LOVE QUESTIONNAIRE AT HARVARD

ROCKEFELLER FUND FINANCES CANVASS OF AMERICAN COLLEGES

The cold facts on warm love are being dug out from the secrets of Harvard students through the same "love questionnaire" that so upset mothers of Bucknell University co-eds, it was learned today.

A furore resulted from the somewhat intimate questionnaire that was submitted to Bucknell students, including the girls, queries on sex subjects and their habits of love.

Coincidentally with information that the same questionnaire is being submitted to students in ten universities, including Harvard, Minnesota, California, Texas, Iowa, Chicago, Johns Hopkins and Phipps Clinic, it was revealed today that it is part of a nation-wide sociological research plan fostered by Dr. Katherine B. Davis of the Bureau of Social Hygiene, which is financed by John D. Rockefeller, Jr.

Some of the studies directed by Rockefeller funds are among animals, but those among students are, for the most part, confined to graduate students.

Bucknell took up the work among freshmen, while Dr. Davis' plan calls for questionaires disseminated among married women from clubs and colleges.

"Our aim," Dr. Davis said today, "is to ascertain what is the normal woman's sex life from infancy to old age. This, to be of value, must correctly represent cross sections of all manner of life in the Nation, covering typical class life in various communities at various ages and stages.

"Hitherto all statistics have been derived from the so-called 'fallen woman' who comes into correctional institutions and asylums, the abnormal woman. This must be checked with statistics obtained from the normal woman.

"Now we are concerned with the college-bred woman who has been out of college for five years; then the married woman selected from club lists, and then the single girl. When the report is complete, we will have the normal woman's sex life from cradle to grave."

So far, 1,000 college graduates and 1,073 married club women have re-

PROSECUTOR SIMPSON DEMANDS A MISTRIAL IN HALL DEATH CASE

Somerville, N. J., Dec. 1.—Alexander Simpson, special prosecutor in the Hall-Mills murder case, today moved for a mistrial alleging that members of the jury had commited improprieties which made it impossible for him to obtain a fair trial.

The court took the motion under advisement.

The motion for the mistrial was made at the completion of the State's case against Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall and her brothers, Willie and Henry Stevens.

They have been on trial for four weeks on charges of killing Mrs. Eleanor R. Mills, soprano in the church of which Mrs Hall's husband, the Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall, was rector.

Immediately after court convened, Simpson said that he had a motion to make and asked that the jury be taken from the courtroom. Robert H. McCarter of defense counsel, said that since the motion which

BULLET WOUND FATAL TO EX-EDITOR CRISTY

Worcester, Dec. 1.—Austin P. Cristy, for years publisher of the Worcester Telegram, died today in City Hospital, a suicide.

Death came at midnight with his wife and two sons, Horace W. and Roger Cristy, at his bedside. In the preceding twelve hours his condition appeared to be improved and because of the clean nature of the wound doctors said chances of recovery were very fair, but he suffered a relapse and quickly passed away.

The seventy-six-year-old former publisher shot himself last Monday in the brokerage office where, according to friends, he had been investing funds for years. His brokers said he never invested heavily, but those closest to him believed stock market losses troubled him.

Following the shooting he was conscious and readily admitted to surgeons at the hospital that he had intentionally inflicted the wound after purchasing a new revolver while on his way to the brokerage office.

Plunging from the third floor window of her home in Forest street, Roxbury, today, Mrs. Lucy Samuelian, fifty-five, suffered injuries from which she died at the City Hospital.

Her daughter, Mrs. Margaret Serbian, with whom she lived, was asleep when the fatal plunge was taken.

Mrs. Samuelian was found by a neighbor, J. E. Johnson of Vine street. He rushed her to the City Hospital, where surgeons found she had sustained fractures to the skull, right arm and thigh and internal injuries.

According to the daughter, the mother suffered a nervous breakdown four weeks ago and had been ailing ever since.

This morning Mrs. Serbian arose and gave her mother toast and coffee. Then she went back to bed. She was asleep when a neighbor knocked and informed her her mother had fallen from the window and was dying in the hospital.

COLD WAVE TO SWOOP DOWN ON HUB TONIGHT

A severe cold wave, with rapidly dropping temperature, will strike Greater Boston this evening, according to the Hub Weather Man.

Temperatures below the freezing point are predicted for tonight and the frigid wave is due to continue at least throughout tomorrow. The cold is a touch of the blast that has already raised havoc in the middle West.

Fair weather is predicted to accompany the cold here, although in other sections of the country blizzards arrived with the descending temperatures. QUEEN MARIE RUSHES TO CONFER WITH CAROL

Paris, Dec. 1. (I.N.S.)—Queen Marie today sent her secretary to a prominent Rue de la Paix jeweler to return a package of jewels. "The Queen took the jewelry on approval before going to America," the jeweler explained.

Paris, Dec. 1 (A.P.)—Queen Marie, who arrived at midnight from her American trip, lost no time today in getting in touch with her errant son, former Crown Prince Carol, who last January renounced his right of succession to the Rumanian throne.

She went from the Ritz Hotel in a taxi to the Boulevard Vineau, in Neuilly, the street on which Carol's villa is situated.

But she did not call there, meeting him instead in a private room at a fashionable restaurant on the edge of the Bois de Boulogne.

Marie has decided to leave for Bucharest on the Simplon express at 8:35 o'clock tonight.

Her servants were busy today caring for the luggage arriving from Cherbourg, where the Queen debarked from the Berengaria with Prince Nicolas and Princess Ileana.

London, Dec. 1 (A.P.)—Latest dispatches to the Rumanian legation from Bucharest, it was said this morning, showed "great improvement" in the condition of King Ferdinand.

she said they stopped on the way home corroborated her statement.

"Bruises on his face and body were sustained in playing football Sunday at the Carolina street playground and not in any tussle Saturday night," said the mother. "I believe he was arrested because the police are 'sore' at him for some minor trouble."

The youth's arrest followed inspection of the hat which one of the fleeing slayers lost, at Roxbury Crossing police station. A sergeant and patrolman said they recognized it as belonging to the youth in question and he was arrested. The label in the hat showed it was purchased in one of a chain of stores in Roxbury, Jamaica Plain and Brighton.

Investigators are also working on the description given by a Medford boy who saw the struggle in the provision store at No. 557A Main street.

His description is said to be much more complete than that given by the slain man's daughter.

Medford Girl, 14, Takes Up Slain Dad's Burden

Mary Monagle, pretty and fourteen, whose father was slain by bandits Saturday night in his provision store, No. 557-A Main street, Medford, today bravely tackled a man's-sized job, that of providing for a family of five.

And Mary plans to continue her studies in the eighth grade at St. Clement's parochial school while filling the role of "daddy," to her two little brothers and baby sister and aiding her widowed mother, now in delicate health.

Big firms that sold meat and produce to the Monagle market and the salesmen who always got orders direct from Mary are interested in her plucky experiment as are the neighbors. All are eager to help.

STORK IS COMING TOO.

Mary has become quite a heroine in Medford and Somerville since the fatal hold-up that [illegible] the family with poverty. "Mother will soon be strong enough to help. We'll get along some way. We've simply got to with such a loung family. Little Margaret, named for mamma, is only two. Then there is Bernard, who is four, and James, who is only eight, so I've got to try to fill papa's shoes. I know he'd want me to.

TAX REDUCTION LEADING THEME

Washington, Dec. 1 (A.P.).—Tax reduction had emerged today as a leading theme of pre-session deliberations of congressional leaders who are busily sketching programs designed to put the Senate and House to work as soon as they reconvene Monday.

Representative Tilson of Connecticut, the Republican floor leader, is opposed to consideration of tax revision at the short session.

A tax reduction proposal will be presented to the House soon after it meets by Representative Garner of Texas. The proposal already has been prepared and has the approval of almost every Democrat in Congress.

Garner doesn't like the tax credit plan, and neither does Representative Garrett of Tennessee, the Democratic floor leader, who thinks it hasn't the "slightest chance" of enactment. President Coolidge, however, expects whatever he might suggest along this line to be considered in both Houses of Congress.

MOTHER'S PLEA WINS BERGDOLL

IS COMING TO FACE MUSIC IN U. S.

Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 1 (Universal)—Grover Cleveland Bergdoll will return to Philadelphia to accept Federal punishment for evading the draft.

This was revealed by Mrs. Emma C. Bergdoll, the millionaire draft dodger's mother, who said that she had expected her son home Thanksgiving Day and expressed confidence that he would keep his promise to come here and surrender by Christmas.

In a voice that threatened to break and with eyes that brimmed with tears the mother, whose hair has grown gray since her son made his sensational escape from Federal authorities after his arrest as a slacker, told of how mother love had overcome Grover's fears of grim prison walls and the far worse punishments that his imagination has conjured.

"He's my boy," faltered Mrs. Bergdoll, speaking in German. "Why shouldn't my heart always be aching for him? It is true that last August 6 I went to Germany and saw Grover.

"Just like a little boy, he buried his head in my lap and cried and told me how he wanted to come home and have it all over with.

Mrs. Marcus was visiting her sister at the time with her husband, and while walking on the street slipped on the icy sidewalk. Both bones of her right leg were broken. She was taken to a hospital, where she remained for ten weeks.

She was then taken to a Boston hospital, where her leg had to be broken four times before it would properly knit together. Mrs. Marcus has never recovered the use of her leg and is in danger of losing it.

Several Boston physicians testified to the permanency of the injury. Mrs. Marcus is the mother of two children.

CODMAN, JR., ADMITS RUM DEAL PART

William C. Codman, Jr., Harvard graduate and scion of one of the best known families in Boston, pleaded guilty to violation of the prohibition laws in Georgia, according to word from that State, and then turned State's evidence against his alleged partner in crime.

Samuel P. Brown, alias Blumisnow, according to the charges, shipped liquor camouflaged in a carload of potatoes from Codman's farm near Savannah, Georgia. The stuff, according to government evidence, had been loaded on the cars on a siding on Telfair farm, the Codman estate.

Codman was found guilty of complicity in the crime when he was first tried, but secured a new trial. But when the new trial was brought to court he suddenly changed his plea to "guilty," and testified against Brown.

He said he had sold a part of his farm to Brown, and that the latter had shipped the liquor in with the potatoes without his knowledge.

A strange feature of the case is that three of the witnesses in the first trial of Codman, when he was found guilty, have committed suicide since the hearing.

Washington, Dec. 1 (I.N.S.).—The silencing of American radio stations for international broadcasting was definitely banned today by the International Radio Week Committee.

"Last January's test will be the last international broadcast sponsored by the committee," Nixon said.

BISHOP LOCKE DENIES HERESY

St. Paul, Dec. 1 (A.P.).—Taking cognizance of writings of two editors who have charged him with apostasy and heresy, Dr. Charles Edward Locke, bishop of the St. Paul area of the Methodist Episcopal Church, assailed the charges and reaffirmed faith in "the great truths upon which christianity is founded," in a statement printed today in the Christian Advocate, official publication of the church.

The attacks of Bishop Locke were th eresult of a sermon h epreached in his former pulpit, the First Methodist Church in Los Angeles, in March, 1924, in which he characterizezd "certain phases" of fundamentalist doctrines as "non-essentials."

Bisho Locke included in these non-essentials the doctrine of the inerrancy of the Old Testament, the doctrine of the Virgin birth of Christ, any special theory of the atonement of Chris, and the doctrines of an imminent hys[illegible] return of Christ to earth to set [illegible] a kingdom.

the prosecutor was to make would fer to the jury, it shold be present.

Judge Charles W. Parker, presiding at the trial, directed, however, that the jury be taken from the room, while counsel argued the action.

Juror Slept at Trial

"Your honor, I move for a mistrial in this case," began Simpson, "because of the failure of the bailiffs to properly guard the jury.

"Some of the jurors have been asleep while this case has been going on; two of the jurors were in conference with counsel for the defense without any guards, one member of the jury called me a d——d liar."

There was a dramatic pause.

The court requested Simpson to explain what member of the jury he saw talking to the defense counsel.

"I saw Juror No. 6, Tillman, in conference with Attorney McCarter and Tudor in front of the defense counsel table," replied Simpson. "Afterward I saw L. C. Barnard talking to the defense counsel.

"When I saw Juror No. 6 talking to the defense he was not under any guard or escort. It is also a fact that Juror No. 5 was dozing off to sleep when Mrs. Jane Gibson was giving her testimony from a bed in this courtroom."

Simpson then began to read the twelve affidavits he had gathered to support his charges.

One of these affidavits charged that Charlotte Mills, daughter of the slain choir singer, had seen, on Nov. 12, Juror No. 5 talking to Attorneys McCarter and Studer of the defence and that she also saw this same juror nodding several times.

Juryman Unguarded

An affidavit signed by Robert Connors, a night watchman for the Redfern Company of Somerville, said:

"About 7:15 P.M. on Saturday, November 13, 1926, I was walking along Main street, between Union and Davenport streets, Somerville, N. J. I saw William Force of Cliff street, Somerville, N. J., call one of the jurors in the Hall-Mills case, who was walking with a man I think is a constable.

"I saw them in conversation for about five minutes and they were still talking when I left. The man who I think is the constable stood about eight or nine feet away from the juror and William Force while they were talking."

Two affidavits set forth that the jurors had been heard discussing the case in the restaurant where they have dined since the trial began.

A newspaperman, in another affidavit, said Juror No. 2 was observed as "nodding and apparently paying no attention to the testimony."

Another newspaperman's affidavit stated that during the testimony of Willie Stevens Juror No. 2 was heard to make a remark showing impatience while Simpson was cross-examining the witness about the time he said he left his home the morning after the slaying.

When the affidavits had been read, dectives were sent out to bring in witnesses.

The defendants showed little apparent concern over the proceedings. Simpson stood with his back to defense counsel, gazing across the courthouse lawn while awaiting resumption of the trial. Then he asked to be excused and left the room. Defense attorneys conferred while McCarter began turning over law books.

Sets a Precedent

The motion by the State for a mistrial in a homicide case is believed almost without precedent in this State.

During an intermission following the motion, the courtroom doors were opened. It was the most informal period of the trial at the most crucial hour and seemed like the lull preceding a storm.

Simpson suggested that the defence might wish to be heard before the jury was recalled, but Justice Parker said:

"If the court thinks anything should be done about this matter, the defense will be given an opportunity to be heard."

If the defense is heard on the mistrial motion it is understood it will be their contention that the affidavits were taken in last two days, yet pertain to incidents taking place some time ago.

The weight of the affidavits did not escape the defense attorneys, however.

"Pretty bad," murmured Senator Case, aside, to his co-workers as Simpson concluded reading the affidavits.

"You're right, its pretty bad," responded Simpson, who overheard Case's remark.

The State completed its case by calling Harry Walsh, captain of the Jersey City police, who testified that he heard Felix Di Martini, private detective four years ago, greet Mrs. Mary Demarest in an elevator in Brooklyn a few months ago.

Mrs. Demarest, as a State's witness, testified that Di Martini offered her $2,500, "and a little more," if she would forget about having seen Henry Stevens in New Brunswick on the day after the killing.

Stevens' home is in Lavallette, fifty-two miles away and his defense has been an alibi.

Di Martini, when called by the defense, testified that he did not know Mrs. Demarest.

Walsh testified that Di Martini, on the day in Brooklyn, said "Hello, Mrs. Demarest."

FUR BREAK 'TIP' TRAPS THREE IN AUTO

Deep, dark suspicion and a New York license in a Massachusetts registered car brought the arrest of two men and a woman in Arlington street today after police had been told that the trio seemed to be deeply interested in show window fur displays.

The three were taken to police headquarters later today and were questioned as suspects in the L. P. Hollander robbery of November 9, when $2,125 worth of furs were filched. They were photographed and fingerprinted. All gave New York addresses.

Many fur breaks have occurred in the Boylston street shops, some by the burglar method of surreptitious entrance and others by the more crude fashion of shattering the show window and snatching the furs.

When the Back Bay police were "tipped" that two men and a woman were sauntering about the district and were acting suspiciously, Sergeant Waugh, with Patrolmen Kerrigan, Cauteran and Kihlgren, went to Boylston and Berkeley streets, as designated, but found no one there answering the descriptions.

Circling the block, however, the officers found the trio in a car parked in Arlington street.

Sergeant Waugh asked for the license of the man back of the wheel and he produced a New York operator's paper. The car bore a Massachusetts registration number.

Just to be on the safe side, the policemen arrested the trio as suspicious persons and for questioning with regard to the many fur robberies.

HUB MAN, ALLEGED ROBBER, ARRESTED

Springfield, Dec. 1.—Alesio Salvatore, 21, of Boston, wanted on the charge of robbery in which a pretty girl, Lillian Superneau, of this city, was used as a decoy, was arrested here after three detectives had chased an auto in which Salvatore was riding and had pulled their guns on the alleged Boston bad man.

Charlotte Will Testify, if on a Stretcher

By CHARLOTTE MILLS.

Somerville, N. J., Dec. 1.—I expect to be called to the stand today, but I don't know whether I will be able to testify. Yesterday I was ill most of the day, both physically and mentally ill.

Charlotte Mills

I was heartsick and weary, and today that feeling has not entirely passed. I was called to testify yesterday, but I was not is the courtroom at the time. Senator Simpson sent for me and I came to court, but I was unable to take the stand.

I was sorry because he wanted me to counteract some very important defence testimony. I hope I will be able to do it before the day is over. I know I will.

Of course I don't want to be another Mrs. Gibson, but I would go on the stand even if I had to be carried on a stretcher. I owe that much to the State and to my dear mother's memory.

I am especially anxious to testify and straighten out a few things because this trial seems to have been immersed in all sorts of scandalous rumors in the past few days. I am sure that all this talk about the unfairness of the jury and all that helped to bring about my illness.

Yesterday I lay in my bed thinking what a terrible thing the trial is turning out to be, if all the reports are true. My mother dead, and Dr. Hall dead, brutally slain.

Three persons on trial for their murder, and the jury apparently acting on prejudice and petty politics. Is there no more justice in the world? Can't the world realize what it means to rob a young girl of her mother?

It was some consolation that Senator Simpson scored several good points during the day. He seems to have cleared up the fingerprint matter, and now I suppose the defense can't have much of an answer to that. But what does all that mean if some of the jurors have already made up their minds to acquit?

I hope the readers of these little articles will excuse me if I do not write much now, because I am weak with illness and mental suffering.

Woman Scoffs at Bail; Stays in Cell 'Just for Thrill'

New York, Dec. 1.—Would a woman want to get out of the Hoosegow?

Not Mrs. Paul Gibson!

Arrested for the manner in which she was driving her expensive car on Fifth avenue she told the police:

"I don't want to get out on bail. I want to see New York jails. I want to get a thrill."

Tea was served during the afternoon. The hostesses were: Miss Dorothy Carney, Mrs. Gerald Blake, Mrs. J. J. McCarthy, Mrs. John A. Dailr, Mrs. Evelyn Mitchell, Miss Helen Carlin, Miss Winifred Cunningham, Miss Marie Egan and Miss Dorothy Devlin.

FATHER OF TRIPLETS AGAIN IS ARRESTED

Charles Barry of No. 112 Summer street, Lynn, the father of Lynn's famous Christmas triplets, was arrested again, being detained on a non-support warrant.

This is the second time he has been charged with this offense. In fact, he is just out of the Salem jail after serving a sentence there imposed last Spring when he was found guilty of non-support of his wife and children.

ROSS, McGRATH ARE NOMINEES IN QUINCY

Charles A. Ross of the Quincy City Council and Councilman Thomas J. McGrath were the successful nominees for Mayor in Quincy, while Cuthbert H. Lowell, chairmon of the schoolhouse building commission, and Edward H. Larkin, president of the Board of Alderman, were nominated in the Mayoralty primary in Medford.

Ross and McGrath led a field of five candidates, while Lowell and Larkin, eliminated at the polls their only opponent, James G. Harris, former president of the Board of Alderman.

Unofficial figures give Ross 4,549 and McGrath 3,918 votes. Lowell received 4,463 votes and Larkin came through to second place with 4,143 votes.

Six persons, unofficial returns, were nominated out of thirteen who sought election to the office of councilman-at-large in Quincy. The winners are Carl H. Leander, Russell T. Bates, Angelo P. Bizzozero, Arthur I. Burgess, Edwin A. Poland, Clifton H. Baker. There were no other contests in this city, except for that of school committee, which went unopposed.

Successful candidates to the office of alderman-at-large in Medford were: Ward No. 1, George H. Bailey and George H. Lewis, Ward 4, Harry M. MacNear and Howard K. Jenkins, Ward 6 Joseph O. Knox and Charles J. Donnellan, Ward 7, James W. Norton and Edwin M. Hopkins.

The mean daily temperature was 44.2 degrees, compared with a normal of exactly 42. EIGHT KILLED AT ROTHERHAM, ENGLAND

A very complete wreck occurred when this train was in an accident. Many were injured. A "bobby" is seen talking to one of the crew. The Arkansas tornado could hardly have done a more complete piece of work.

PROPOSE CIVIL ACTION IN AUTO VIOLATIONS

Minor automobile offenses, including overtime parking, will be removel from the field of criminal law and transferred to the civil side of the courts, if a recommendation made to Governor Fuller and the Executive Council today by the Judicial Council of Massachusetts is carried out.

A novel plan, said to be the first of its kind in the United States, is outlined by the Judicial Council for the collection of penalties and fines under the new procedure.

It is also recommended that automobile drivers should be required to carry on the back of their licenses their complete court record. Policemen would make the first part of the entry in each case and the clerk of the district court would later supply an explanation of the result or a receipt-stamp acknowledging collection of the penalty.

IMPORTANT CHANGES

Other important changes in court procedure are recommended by the council which, appointed to investigate ways and means of more effective law-enforcement, includes in its membership former Supreme Court Justice William Caleb Loring, former Superior Court Judge Franklin G. Fessenden, Judge Charles T. Davis of the Land Court, Judge William M. Prest of Probate Court, Judge Frank A. Milliken of New Bedford district court, Attorneys Addison L. Green, Robert G. Dodge, Frederick W. Mansfield and Frank W. Grinnell.

Among these important recommendations is one advocating raising of the standards for admission to the bar. Continuance of present "low educational standards for admission to the bar" will work great injury to the people of the State, the council declares, adding that "a poorly trained bar is a source of great expense to the State."

Under the proposed plan for handling minor motor law violations, the clerk of the district court or the municipal court of Boston would launch a civil action of contract upon receiving the report of the police officer.

The offender would then be notified to call at the clerk's office. If the offence is his first or second for the year, payment of $5 or $10, plus a recording fee of $3, would settle the case. The payment would be "non-committal," not requiring any plea of guilty or any finding of guilty by the court.

If the offender wished to contest the charge, he would so tell the clerk, who would then go ahead with his action for alleged breach of contract in accordance with the informal procedure now in practice for collection of small claims.

FRESH START EACH YEAR.

The driver's license is the basis for the action. Moreover, the State's power of revoking the license would be put to use in case an offender fails to pay a judgment that the civil side of the court reports against him.

At the end of a license year the driver's slate would be wiped clean and would have no past record as regards minor violations.

If another recommendation by the council is accepted, private conversations between husband and wife in divorce or separation cases will not be excluded from court testimony. Attention is called to the crowded conditions in the Suffolk County courthouse.

The council also advises passage of a law to give defendants in criminal cases, other than capital cases, the opportunity of waiving trial by jury for trial by a judge sitting without a jury in the Superior Court.

COMMISSION TO STUDY TRAFFIC RULES IS ASKED

An unpaid commission of six members to formulate a comprehensive plan of traffic rules and regulations and to devise a uniform scheme of administration for the enforcement of the motor vehicle laws is asked for in a petition filed by Representative Peter F. Fitzgerald of Boston for M. A. O'Brien.

The bill calls for a commission to consist of two Senators, two Representatives and two persons to be appointed by the Governor and an appropriation of $10,000 to carry on the work.

GREEKS SCORE ARMY MEDDLING IN POLITICS

Athens, Dec. 1.—Parties opposing the Venizelists insist on the immediate ending of the Greek army's meddling with politics, asserting that as long as army officers tamper with the liberty of the government in its direction of affairs of state chaos is bound to exist.

The public here is favorable both to the coalition government which is to be formed on Thursday and to the proposed restriction of the political activities of the military.

Jury May Get Hall Case by Friday Morning

Somerville, N. J., Dec. 1.—Outstanding developments in the Hall-Mills trial were:

Senator Simpson delayed plea for new trial pending further investigation of charges that jury is biased in favor of defence.

Final evidence will be placed before the jury today. Following summations and judge's charge, the case will probably go to jury Friday morning.

Handwriting experts again testified for State that alibi entries in diary of Henry Stevens had been doctored.

De Martini, Hall private detective, lied on witness stand, Mrs. Mary Demarest told court.

State finger-print experts denied defence charge that finger-print of Willie Stevens was superimposed on visiting card of murdered rector.

PASTOR GIVES LOVE COURSE

Worcester, Dec. 1.—Rev. Charles Herbert Rust, of Plymouth Congregational Church, has no idea of teaching young men how to become Don Juans, but he does show the methods by which young husbands can remain Romeos to their wives.

The pastor is giving a course in sweethearting in his church, but doesn't make sheiks and flappers his objectives. Married folks are his target.

"The main thing," said the minister, "is to know when you are in love. Why is it that one of you young girls feels her knees get shakey and her neck warm when a certain young man approaches?

"Why are married women of 35 and 40 so anxious to dance with men not their husbands?

"Why has the masculine end of the marriage contract a tendency to wander about, here and there?"

Possibly you don't know, but Rev. Rust will tell you if you join his class.

"The answers to these questions," he said, "is no answer at all. You know you are in love because you are in love, and that is all there is to it. The modern tendency to reduce love to a mathematical percentage is all wrong. Love is everything beautiful and it cannot be described, and certainly cannot be reduced to its lowest terms."

"The ideal marriage demands three requisites: First, physical robustness and fire; second, intellectual understanding; third, mutual harmony in tastes."

SUSPEND BUSINESS DURING FUNERAL

Andover, Dec. 1.—All civic and mercantile activities were suspended here during the funeral services of Omar P. Chase, held at the family home on Elm street. The Rev. Dr. E. Victor Bigelow, pastor of the South Church, officiated at the services, and was assisted by the Rev. Frank R. Shipman, now of Hartford, Ct., but formerly of Andover.

MALDEN TEAMSTER DIES AFTER CRASH

John J. Doherty, 43, a city teamster in Malden, died of injuries suffered when an Elevated car operated by Philip O'Rourke, of No. 176 Madison street, Malden, crashed into one of the horses, causing it to rear and throwing Doherty out on his head. The accident happened at Main street and Eastern avenue.

MINISTER HELD IN COAL THEFT

Stamford, Ct., Dec. 1.—The Rev. Clarence M. Goodman, local minister, today faces the court charge of stealing three tons of coal from the railroad. According to the charges, the minister, in addition to his parish duties, had been hired to transport coal from the railroad siding in Greenwich to the Greenwich Water Company's plant. The charge is that he diverted three tons to his own use.

In addition to the furore over the arrest of the minister, the local community is wondering why the charge of larceny against the minister totals but nine dollars for three tons of coal.

BAUER INVITED TO INSPECT ELKS CLUB

Exalted Ruler Frank J. McHugh of the Lynn Lodge of Elks has invited Mayor Ralph S. Bauer to visit the Lynn Elks Club and see for himself whether there is any gambling going on there.

Mr. McHugh answered Mayor Bauer's letter that he had received information from a reliable source that card playing for money was indulged in at the Lynn Elks Club by a statement denying that gambling of any nature took place on the club premises. His invitation to the Mayor to visit the club "any time" followed this statement.

Mayor Bauer, in his letter to the Elks Club, similar to letters sent other clubs in Lynn, threatened to close the club unless gambling was stopped.

At the Prospect Club it was admitted the letter had been received, but no comment was forthcoming. At the Park Club it was said no communication had been received from Mayor Bauer.

AGED SHUT-INS ASK CHRISTMAS CHEER

WOMAN OF 71 INDOORS OVER YEAR

Tickets for Goodfellow Fund Benefits Go on Sale With Demand Increasing

Many aged shut-ins have appealed to the Christmas Goodfellow Editor of the Boston Evening American for assistance at Christmas. Included among the number is a 71-year-old woman who has lived alone for 22 years in the South End.

She has not been out-of-doors once during the past year. This dear old soul is facing a dreary Christmas unless some Goodfellow extends a helping hand to her.

Here is her letter:

"I am 71 years old and have been suffering from sciatic rheumatism for the last 40 years. I have been shut in for the past year, and seem to be getting worse every day. I have lived alone for 22 years, and I will be so pleased

What do you say, Christmas Goodfellows, does the dear little old lady in the South End have a happy Christmas this year, or is she going to be left alone with her thoughts of happier times, when Christmas Day was a time of good cheer for her? It's up to YOU. If you want the name and address of this dear old soul, the Christmas Goodfellow Editor will gladly give it to you, and you may play the Good Samaritan to her.

An alternative for those who are too busy to personally care for families during the Christmas rush, has been arranged in the form of a Christmas Goodfellow Fund. Persons contributing to this Fund are assured that every penny of the amount they give will be spent solely for substantial food, clothing, fuel, etc., for distribution at Christmas to needy families.

PLEADS FOR CHILDREN.

A tired and discouraged mother from E street, South Boston, writes:

"I have never written for aid from your paper before, but I am wondering if you could give my little boy a little sunshine on Xmas morning. My husband has been sick all Fall, as he burned his eye. Only six months ago we buried our baby, and it seems that all we can do is pay our bills on my husband's small pay. In a few more months there will be another baby, so if you have anything to spare for my little boy, who is almost four years old, I will be more than thankful."

A friend from Winchester writes:

"I noticed that a little girl asked someone to give her a graphophone. If someone can give her a Victrola, I have a dozen double faced records that I would gladly give, together with a few clothes and shoes, if a little would help to make sunshine in the dark day and bring a little joy to this little girl's mother and herself, I will do my part."

ONTARIO VOTES ON WET OR DRY

Toronto, Ont., Dec. 1 (A.P.)—The people of Ontario are balloting today to choose representatives for the seventeenth Legislature of the province, but with the main issue wet or dry.

Old party lines have been cast to the winds during the campaign. G. Howard Ferguson, the Conservative Premier, is asking to be returned to power on a platform that all sales of liquor shall be under government supervision, and that sales on doctors' prescriptions shall be done away with.

The Liberal party, the Progressives and the prohibitionists, on the other hand, hold that if Mr. Ferguson is victorious his measure will make liquor more readily obtainable and therefore constitute a blow to temperance. These groups are demanding a continuous and more strict enforcement of the Ontario temperance act, under which bars and liquor stores were banished from the province and a government commission has conducted dispensaries for the sale of spirits on doctors' prescriptions.

The sale of beer of a 4.4 alcoholic content by weight is now permitted in the province. Mr. Ferguson's platform calls for this beverage also to be placed under government control, with highproof liquor.

The government forces have a candidate in all of the 112 districts, except one. The Liberals have about 60 candidates, the Progressives 20 and the Prohibitionists about 30.

M. J. MULROY IS TRUCK VICTIM

Martin J. Mulroy, bookkeeper in the office of the city collector, recognized authority on the Gaelic language and author of Irish literature, was struck and almost instantly killed by a motor truck while crossing Center street, Jamaica Plain.

Mr. Mulroy was dead when the ambulance of Station 10 arrived at Boston City Hospital. He was 69 and lived at No. 10 Alleghany street, Roxbury. Alex Marinakis, of No. 63 Washington street, Dedham, driver of the truck, was detained on a technical charge of manslaughter.

Among Mr. Mulroy's works are: "Irish America 1,000 Years Before Columbus" and "Women of Ancient Ireland." Two sons and a daughter survive. The sons are James and Martin Mulroy of Boston, and the daughter is Mrs. Mary J. Fitzpatrick, wife of John J. Fitzpatrick, editor of the Boston Advertiser.

PROBE ROXBURY BLAZE; 15 ROUTED BY FLAMES

Investigation will be made today into the circumstances surrounding a blaze discovered on the porch of a three-story dwelling at No. 132 Shirley street, Roxbury, which gave firemen a brisk fight and caused damage estimated at $400.

The investigation was asked by District Fire Chief William F. McGorkle, who said he believed the fire had been set because the porch was afire in three separate sections. The flames worked their way through the clapboards and walls to the second floor.

Fifteen persons, including ten children, were driven to the street.

Real Champagne Used to Christen 6 New Rum Chasers

Philadelphia, Dec. 1.—Six new "rum chasers" slid off the ways at the American Brown Bovey shipyard, South Camden, appropriately christened each with pint of champagne.

Yard workers cheered as each bottle went "pop" against the prow of each "rum chaser." Ten-year-old Helen Jennison, sponsor, gave the crowd a thrill when she dropped one bottle, but it was rescued in time to christen the Alert.

Officers of the company said the use of the champagne was legal, inasmuch as the beverage was pre-war and had been for a long time in the office vaults.

NAB LYNN BOYS IN AUTO CHASE

After an automobile chase in the centre of Lynn, police today arrested three Lynn youths on a charge of breaking and entering the garage of John McLaughlin at No. 331 Bridge street, Salem, with intent to commit larceny.

The arrested trio are Michael E. Conners, twenty-five, of Sagamore street; Frank J. Tobin, twenty-five, of High Rock terrace, and Joseph E. Kane of Pacific street.

Young Kane's father provided bail of $10,000 to free them pending their arraignment in Salem District Court.

The youths denied McLaughlin's charges.

SHOPPING VIA WINDOWS AIDS SELECTIONS

By JOAN STUART.

Eight of our gang were having dinner at the club.

"Let's all go window shopping and pick out what we want for Christmas," one of the girls suggested as the coffee was being served.

"Don't look so innocent," somebody told her," we all know you've probably picked out a platinum bracelet somewhere and you figure you'll rope Arthur into buying it for you."

"Strikes me it might be rather fun," I spoke up. The fact was that there were some wonderful ties in a certain window and I wanted very much to have Doug commit himself as to the one he liked best. Besides, window shopping at night with a crowd that enters into the spirit of the thing can be very amusing as well as useful.

SIDE STREETS ALSO.

So about eight we all piled into the biggest car and sped for town. Our line of march was up Tremont street and down Washington, taking the side streets as the fancy struck us.

The women were mostly interested in frocks and wraps, their husbands carelessly, but with malice, sauntering ahead. The men finally halted en masse before a window.

"I think they're rather snappy, myself," someone was saying.

I brazenly pushed to the front. "You mean that bottle?" I wanted to know.

THEY APPRECIATED IT.

"Yes, the tall black one with the slender neck! The hammered silver on it is wonderfully done," some appreciative soul was talking. "How much do you suppose it is?"

"I know how much it is because we bought one exactly like it for dad. I paid $8.50 for it."

"Your dad will sure thank you for it," the appreciative one spoke fervently. "He's got about the best stock I've ever had the good fortune to sample. Tell me it's all preprohibition."

"He tells you that because he knows that you won't know the difference anyway," I teased him.

"Anybody can give me one of them," came a loud announcement from somewhere.

THE SHOP-O-SCOPE has resulted in a greatly improved Christmas for many men—their wives now read the "Gifts for Him" ads before selecting any presents.

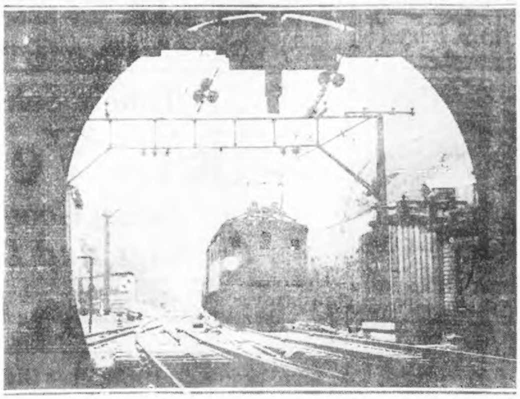
HOOSAC TUNNEL REBUILT



ENLARGED TO ACCOMMODATE LARGEST CARS

Three months and 20 days of work has transformed the 50-year-old Hoosac tunnel into a tube capable of admitting the passage of the largest types of cars on both tracks at the same time. The "new" tunnel was opened today.

'ARE IT IS,' OR 'IS IT ARE?' OH, YOU TELL 'EM!

Chicago, Dec. 1—There's a great disagreement over the matter of grammar. The question is whether the words "two-thirds the oats, more than half the corn," as the subject of a sentence should require "are" or "is" as a verb in a Burlington Railroad ad. The vote:

ARE

Passenger traffic manager.
University of Chicago.
Lexicographer.
Yale.

IS

Advertising agency.
Traffic vice-president.
Northwestern University.
Harvard.
Princeton.

Jap Emperor Improved

Tokyo, Dec. 1 (A.P.)—Emperor Yoshihito's condition today was reported "much improved" by the household department. His fever has passed, it was said.

B. & M. TUNNEL ENLARGED LOR BIG CARS

North Adams, Dec. 1.—A huge engineering accomplishment was completed today when the Hoosac Tunnel, enlarged to permit passage of biggest cars registered in the country, was opened by the Boston & Maine Railroad.

This increase in the size of the five-mile bore, for half a century the shortest route by rail between the Hudson River and the sea, will save 24 or 36 hours on some shipments.

Instead of being forced to detour freight cars of maximum height or width over roundabout routes, the enlarged Hoosac Tunnel now is large enough to permit operation of these cars in trains moving in opposite directions on both tracks at the same time.

Several big automobile and furniture cars which previously detoured from the Hudson River gateways, came through the tunnel in fast freights today, with room to spare.

With the "Little Tunnel" west of North Adams also enlarged, bridge clearances increased over the entire route, bridge-strengthening under way to permit operation of giant Santa Fe locomotives and hundred-car trains all the way East, rock-ballasting operations well begun, and automatic train control installed for more than half the distance, this Fitchburg-Berkshire division of the Boston & Maine is one of the best-equipped railroad lines in the country.

In the opinion of engineers of high standing, the maintenance of way, operating, engineering, electrical and "mining" forces of the Boston & Maine, in accomplishing the modernization of Hoosac Tunnel in three months and 20 days, without interruption to traffic and without accident, added another chapter to the achievements of railroad engineering.

COOLIDGE HITS COOING DOVE OF PEACE

Washington, Dec. 1 (I.N.S.)—With Republican control of the seventieth Congress trembling in the balance, a political error by President Coolidge today threatened to disrupt the peace negotiations between administration leaders and the insurgent bloc in the Senate.

The president named Colonel C. P. Mudgett, a political foe of both Senator Lynn J. Frazier and Senator Gerald P. Nye, to the office of marshal in North Dakota. The appointment was made at the solicitation, it was said, of former Governor L. B. Hanna, who opposed Nye in the recent primary and who has fought Frazier for years.

The president's action, brought to a temporary halt the trend of peace in Republican ranks on capitol hill.

Unless the break can be repaired, the Republicans will face the possibility of losing their paper control of Congress and, perhaps, watch the Democrats organize the Senate.

HEALTHIEST TRIO LAUD 'OLD-FASHIONED CHORES'

Chicago, Dec. 1 (A.P.)—The nation's three healthiest farm youngsters agree that plenty of sleep, good food and old-fashioned farm tasks are the best ingredients for physical fitness.

"Housework before and after school keeps me in trim," said fourteen-year-old Jeanette Rushing of Sunflower County, in Mississippi, and Alberta Hoppe, sixteen-year-old Iowan from County Inn, confessed the same program.

The lassies were judged 98.6 per cent. perfect in a group of children from eighteen States.

Walter Griffin, fifteen, found to be the healthiest boy among entries from seventeen States, with a grade of 36.6 per cent., gets up every morning at 5 o'clock to help his father run their farm near Paducah, Ky., and he labors from then until bed time, at 7 or 8 o'clock at night, with time out to eat all he wants at three meals.

Both Albert and Jeanette have at least nine and one-half hours of sleep a night, and both watch the diet.

"Lots of fruit, vegetables, milk, cereals and very little sweets," Jeanette counted off, and Alberta agreed throughout.

Jeanette, slightly blonde, is five feet four inches tall and weighs [illegible] pounds. Alberta measures five feet six to the top of her curly brunette locks and she weighs 133 pounds. The Kentucky boy is five feet eight and he throws all of 143 pounds into a day's work.

Collier in Distress

The big collier Lemuel Burrows, loaded with 12,000 tons of coal for the coke works at Everett, was reported in distress off Nantucket. Her main engine had broken down, a wireless message said, and she was forced to anchor where her engine room force found the break so serious that they could not effect repairs.

Why not deposit at least part of it in A MUTUAL SAVINGS BANK?

All deposits in Massachusetts Savings Banks are free from tax under the Massachusetts Income Tax Law.

Complete your job by allowing your dollars to work for you. You'll be amazed at how rapidly they accumulate.

A Few Facts About Mutual Savings Banks

A Savings Bank is a mutual corporation, having no stockholders, organized and conducted under State Laws, to further the interest of Thrift in a community.

The affairs of a Mutual Savings Bank are conducted by a Board of Trustees—citizens of proved character in their community—each successful in his own line of business—and a staff of active officers.

Each Mutual Savings Bank also has an Investment Committee—elected from members of the Board of Trustees. The Investment Committee supervises the loaning of the money deposited in the bank. Investigations are made of all applications for loans, thereby protecting the interests of the people who have accounts.

Unlike many other banks, the Mutual Savings Bank is not a commercial institution. It is neither a business nor speculative enterprise. The sole object of a savings bank is to safely and securely invest all money intrusted to it for the benefit of its depositors—ready at all times to pay back your deposit with dividend additions at stated periods. All profits go to the depositors after deducting the expenses of doing business and setting aside credits to the surplus account. This surplus account is a valuable additional protection for the depositors expressly provided under the laws of the state.

Absolute security is assured in a Mutual Savings Bank because of the conservatism of its methods and the strict State supervision to which Savings Banks are subjected.

These Mutual Savings Banks Represent the Ideal Depository for Your Savings in Safety and Service. Profit by Their Experience.

NEW SOUTHERN HARBOR LINE IS URGED

Establishment of a new harbor line on the southerly side of the Charles River at a minimum distance of 300 feet from the northerly line established a year ago by the Legislature, from a point near the dam to Warren bridge, is recommended by the Metropolitan Planning Division.

In its special report on the future development of the railroad and steamship terminal facilities and piers of the metropolitan district and the port of Boston, in 1925, the Division points out attention was called to the developments contemplated and under way by the Boston & Maine Railroad in the rear of the North Station.

It recommended at that time passage of an act to abolish existing harbor lines in the Charles River in the rear of the North Station and to establish a new harbor line on the easterly side of Charlestown bridge.

This was provided that a suitable channel for the passage of vessels be provided and maintained and that no bridge or other structure be erected across the channel without proper provision for navigation.

The Legislature, however, abolished existing lines and established a new line on the northerly side of the river from a point near the dam to Warren Bridge.

This line was located so as to leave a channel width of 250 feet in front of the dam, then proceeded in a location not far from the boundary of Cambridge and Boston to the Warren Bridge.

Subsequently, it developed there appeared agreement between interested parties, principally shipping and railroad, that a 300 foot channell would be desirable, the division says.

"Such a waterway," the division continues, "would allow for materially greater convenience than at present in operating vessels through the river when the new structures carrying the tracks of the railroad across the river were replaced, since the opportunity would be provided for a straightening of the course that vessels follow."

The Division points out that the greater part of the trackage of the railroad between the train-shed of the North Station and the present waterway for vessels is carried on pilings, as is a greater part of the yards between the waterway and the Prison Point bridge, and maintained at an excessive expense by the road. The road wishes to replace the piling with a permanent fill.

Warren Bridge, the report adds, will need rebuilding soon, and when this is done, the present draw span should be relocated to the northward, and the northerly channel at the Charlestown bridge used, instead of the southerly channels, as at present

The coast guard cutter Tallapoosa has gonein pursuit of the rum runner and the two men.

The prohibition officer and guard were left on board the rum runner to watch the vessel while the patrolboat went after more fuel.

PLOT TO KILL RAJAH IN CALIFORNIA IS FOILED

Los Angeles, Dec. 1 (I.N.S.).—An incipient plot to kill Tukaji Rao Holker, deposed Maharajah of Indore, was believed to have been frustrated today following the arrest of three Hindus and a white man, all heavily armed, by immigration officers near here. The Hindus came from the same section of India as the mother of Mumtaz Begum, the Nautch dancer, whose love affair with the ex-Maharajah resulted in his abdicating.

Calles will realize that when he attacks the Catholic Church he attacks a power well organized, and possessing great power over the minds of men.

BUT A WORSE TRAGEDY is represented by the man of genius. His brain contains intellectual gold nuggets of gigantic size.

But, like the turkey with the lumps of gold in its inside, the genius cannot tell where he got it. Cannot point to the celestial mine whence genius comes.

Nothing puzzling about Tunney's arrest. In his stage exhibition there is no graft for anybody.

400 U. S. 'DEVIL DOGS' ARRIVE AT HANKOW

London, Dec. 1 (I.N.S.).—The American destroyers Pope and Truxton have arrived at Hankow with 400 marines and bluejackets on board, according to a Central News dispatch from Hankow today.

Peking, Dec. 1 (A.P.).—The danger to which foreigners at Hankow and Foochow have been exposed as the result of unrest and factional fighting is lessening.

Dispatches from foreign sources in the latter city say there is fighting between the loyal Fukienese troops defending the city and the invading Cantonese. These advices declare the southerners were deflected back toward Canton. The various consuls there, however, are requesting their governments to send gunboats to protect their nationals.

At Hankow the situation eased as the Cantonese moved a step nearer in their desire to establish their capital city at Wuchang, near there, by which they hope to unify control over the disintegrated republic.

An official message from Canton announced that the southern government would move to Wuchang, December 5, its first group of officials and government archives.

Diplomatic circles expect this move to contribute toward the pacifying of Hankow, which has been ruled by labor unions for several weeks. A general anti-freign strike is threatened there, but once the Cantonese establish their capital at Wuchang it is believed the situation will change. The unrest at Hankow now is attributed to the absence of strong authority.

WHEELER WARS ON 'AL' SMITH

New York, Dec. 1 (I.N.S.).—The prohibition forces today stood pledged to a war to the finish against all nullificationists who may be offered as presidential candidates in the 1928 convention. Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel of the National Anti-Saloon League, made an announcement to the effect during a debate before 1,000 members and guests of the Economic Club at Hotel Astor. He said:

"No quarter will be asked from or given to prohibition nullification candidates in the 1928 presidential campaign.

"State executives who aid in the repeal of State enforcement laws to enforce the Federal constitution and who repudiate the obligation to support and enforce it, can never be trusted to safeguard and enforce the United States constitution as residents of the White House."

Allies of Governor Smith of New York and Governor Ritchie of Maryland, at whom Wheeler admitted his shafts were directed, scowled their disapproval.

MANY STATES WANT NEW NATIONAL GUARD UNITS

Washington, Dec. 1 (A.P.).—Appeals from many staffs for authority to organize new National Guard units are noted in the annual report of Major-General Creed C. Hammond, chief of the Militia Bureau, War Department.

New units cannot be considered without adequate appropriations, General Hammond pointed out, but he added:

"I am convinced that the present restrictions on the Militia Bureau budget should be modified to permit the organization of the limited number of units required to complete existing organizations of first priority for the development of the National Guard."

MRS. VANDERBILT SAILS, WITH NO DIVORCE IN VIEW

Paris, Dec. 1 (I.N.S.).—Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt II, whose variously reported suit for divorce in Paris and petition to the tribunal of the Rota at Rome for nullification of her marriage created a stir on both sides of the Atlantic, today sailed for New York, denying she had instituted proceedings either for an annulment or a divorce.

An exhaustive search in Paris courts failed to reveal any Vanderbilt divorce papers and it is impossible that the demand could now be filed without the presence of at least one of the principals. Officials of the Rota denied nullification proceedings have been instituted.

WOMAN FELLED BY THUG IN SERIOUS CONDITION

The condition of Mrs. Clara M Colbert, victim of a murderous attack in Roxbury Monday night when a thug black-jacked her in her store and postoffice sub-station, No. 323 Warren street is very grave and her physician, Dr. William H. Greene, has refused to have her interviewed by either postoffice inspectors or police officers.

Dr. Greene stated Mrs. Colbert had a temperature of 103 degrees, a very high pulse, and was suffering from a severe concussion of the brain.

GIRLS, NOW YOU CAN PUT YOUR FEET ON THE DESK!

Cleveland, Dec. 1.—Under some circumstances it seems to be a good thing for a young lady to tilt back in a chair and put her feet on a desk. Miss Frances Perking, an official welfare worker of New York, delights in doing so.

She says that it is beneficial for workers who stand a lot, in that it makes the blood rush the other way and some factories use the idea in rest periods.

Shopping with Priscilla Price

Dear Anne:

Your list has come just in time for your Wednesday letter. I've looked the things up and have found the shops for you to go, when you come to town. So you can make your rounds quickly, without wasting time hunting and poking aimlessly through the crowds.

For French Underwear

Go to Miss Wiggins, on the fourth floor of the Lawrence Building (corner of Tremont and West Streets). She has a wonderful assortment of dainty Parisian undies at really moderate prices. Little step-ins of fine quality crepe, lovely lace medallions and edgings, gaily decorated with sprays of flowers. Nighties, drawers, chemises, and combinations of every type that's new, and every color that's charming: the soft apple green, the delicate orchid, pink, flesh and the lovely peach. The step-ins are $2.50; nighties $4.95 and the other prices equally low.

In fact, they are almost as alluring and colorful, those exquisite little undies, as the latest hats Miss Wiggin brought over from New York last week. And her hats, by the way, are on sale at a great reduction. That is, you can buy a hat now for $5.00 that you couldn't have bought before at anywhere near that price. Marvelous models for line and style, made by the cleverest milliners in Boston. Some of the new New York hats are as low as $10.50, those new, brilliant, sparkling bits of headwear in felt, metal cloth and ribbon; designed to bring out the personality of a girl, even when she's swathed up to her chin in furs.

Then there are the stunning dresses in the cases, some marked to $15.75, just in from the express company and barely unpacked. In fact, one lot hadn't even arrived, when I saw Miss Wiggin, but she assured me that they would be in by the time this letter reached you.

Next You Must

Call around to Silver's to look at the new coats he has ordered for this week's special. It is the Silver Specialty Shop, up in room 509 of the Blake Building, 59 Temple Place—the shop which has been giving those marvelous values on coats and dresses these last few weeks.

For the new ones are beauties—made of Montebello, Glowana, and other deep pile fabrics, trimmed with kit fox and lined with heavy crepe. At the same price of $39.50, the price which has kept the shop humming like a hive of bees throughout November.

He has also brought in another group of coats you are sure to like. Coats of one hundred per cent. camel's hair cloth. Soft, lustrous brown coats with beautiful crush collars of splendid beaver; coats with a graceful swing, designed for warmth and beauty. These are only $37.50, about the most moderate price they could be marked, without absolutely giving them away.

And please see the sport coats, too, those all-wool tweeds in the big diamond blocks with the snugly gray fox collars, for surely you know of someone who ought to realize that a coat like this can be hers for $24.50. Then pass the word along, as many a mother and daughter will be grateful for a tip on the type of outdoor and indoor clothing Silver's carries and the very reasonable price he is willing to mark them.

My own coat has given supreme satisfaction every day since it was bought, and from all I hear from others who have been there, I believe every customer becomes a friend for life.

Isn't It Lucky

That Thresher Bros. are having a sale in crepe de chines and we can run in there at 19 Temple Place and get what we need for those nighties and undies at a reduced price? Unexpected markdowns before Christmas are so much nicer than those which come after everything is made and given.

I looked the silks over today to be sure they had the colors you wanted, for you seem to favor the most elusive and in-between tones of the season. But don't worry, my dear. They were all there and about sixty other shades besides. A whole counter of crepe de chines, flat crepes and washable crepes; 40 inches wide, of beautiful quality, and bearing the nice little price of $1.88 a yard.

Yes, I saw the yellows, orchids, and that lovely honey color you wanted. I also saw the new French blue, the salmon, the apple green, and every shade of pink for evening dresses. And the deep rich tones for afternoon and dinner gowns; the jungle green, our glorious Chanel red, the lustrous grays, mulberry, royal purple and even the navy blue and stunning black. In fact, there was every tone, shade and variation of shade in the rainbow, and some exquisite colorings which must have originated in the paint box of the morning mist and evening sunset. For $1.88 a yard—so low it's almost a Christmas gift in itself from Thresher Brothers to every woman in New England.

For the odds and ends, those pieces of metal cloth, velvet, chiffon, and all the different bits of silks, we'll go over to the remnant department and save one-quarter of the regular price.

Dolores Del Rio, glorious actress of Mexico, has consented to show how a Spanish shawl should be worn. She is now playing in Los Angeles, wearing a different shawl for every gown.

The Problem Bobs

Up now as to what to do with your hair. Should it be cut or not? Does it need treatments, a bit of retouching or a permanent? And if so, what kind and how much? Just what is the magic formula which will give you again that smart, exquisitely groomed appearance you have lost?

As you know from of old, L. Max is the man to consult on real questions like these. He can tell you in a few moments whether a bob will fit your personality, whether the new lovely swirl will display your features in fine classic relief: or whether it won't. And he's been in the profession too long (thirty years or more) and knows his art too well to let you make a mistake like that.

And then the permanent. Of course, you want that beautiful, loose, broad wave that softly ripples around your head in graceful indulations, for lucky is the woman who has one and is secure in the knowledge that her beauty will not vanish with each rain. L. Max is master of that wave, and he will give it to you, if—ah! here's the point—if he is convinced that it will do your particular hair no harm. Probably it won't, for his process is gentle and coaxes the hair into curl with soothing oils, rather than blasting it beyond rebellion. But should he decide that even this permanent isn't for your benefit, then you are doomed to go without—as far as L. Max is concerned.

Or should your hair be dull and dry, weary or neglected, he will tell you about his treatments, six for $5.00, which will bring back the silky gloss, the healthy gleam and lustre. So, Anne, make it a point to go down to see him, at 154 Boylston street, on the third floor, and consult him personally. It might be well to call Beach 2691 and make a definite appointment.

To T. D. Whitney's

We must go for about the most delightful dollar gift you've ever seen. It's just exactly what you want for your old school friends, the extra little present to slip in with the big ones, and the thoughtful remembrance to those you truly care for.

It's a bottle of Nultrafleur, the most delightfully fragrant and winsome perfume I've ever discovered. You'll have visions of an old fashioned garden laden with the breath of many flowers under the Summer sun. You'll think a bit of Spring has drifted by, with violets and hyacinths hidden in her skirts. And you'll know your friends think lovingly of you, every time they see the pretty little bottle. It comes packed in a dainty purple gift box, at T. D. Whitney's, 39 Temple Place. A little bottle, only holding one-third of an ounce, but every drop is so concentrated that a touch is all that's needed to create an aura of alluring sweetness about one all the day.

Patsy's a Dream

The preparations of J. Lesquendieu, made, sealed and packaged in France.

She makes her skin scientifically clean with Creme-de-Fleur, a delightfully light and oily cream composed of the finest of French oils, which softens, clears and tones up every corner and crevice. Then she finishes off with a foundation of Veloute de Peches, to give that lovely peach glow beneath the powder. And when she emerges for the day she is the essence of peaches and cream with the bloom of joyful youth.

Both of these creams are new; the last word from the laboratories of beauty, and will soon be found on the toilet tables of every fastidious woman. The Creme de Fleurs is $1.75; the Veloute de Peches $2.00 per jar.

The Toy List

Looks large and rather a task, but it is really the happiest and easiest part of your Xmas shopping. Because I'm going to take you to the Temple Shops at 11 Avon Street. Oh, yes, you've been there many times for gifts, glassware, china, and kitchen needs, and you linger at their windows every time you pass. But now the second floor has been added to the year-round toy department, and there you will find a most satisfactory and careful selected assortment.

Toys for the wee baby who can just clasp his tiny fingers around a rattle and small woody dog.

Toys for the bigger baby who wants something to hug or push; mosaics, painting outfits, etc., for the kindergarten child; laundry sets, stoves, cooking utensils, silverware and dishes for the domestic little girl. Friction toy, mechanical toys, building and iron toys for the scientific boy. Dolls, dressed and undressed; dolls of other nations, and the beloved baby dolls. And there are books for young people of all ages.

Best of all, the prices are SO attractive!

But Wait 'Til

You hear about the hosiery item. That's something you're going to thank Priscilla for.

Because I know where you can get your silk and wool stockings for $1.50 a pair. Beautiful stockings, fashioned with all the grace of a Summer chiffon and in shades as elusive as Spring. It's at the Norfolk Hosiery Company, in the arcade of the Little Building, 80 Boylston street, a splendid little shop, which is having an anniversary sale to celebrate its second successful year.

And here's a note that will interest you most—you who won't put on wool until absolutely forced. For $1.25 you can have a stunning pair of silk stockings lined with lisle; a combination I've never seen before; which have the smooth, silky lustre on the outside, and the necessary warmth within. What's more, they are fashioned and give splendid satisfaction in wear as well as appearance.

Then there are lovely silk chiffon stockings in the Peach and French Nude shades for 98c. a pair; the hose men love to wear in silk and wool for 59c., rayon undies most delightfully low, and a shop full of other things that tempt you beyond all resolutions.

Catherine E. Kane

Is just above, on the second floor of the Little Building, with her big spacious Youth Shop full of darling daytime, nighttime, dinner time and party time dresses, most specially priced at $15.

The magnet which will draw you irresistibly will be the afternoon dresses, for there are thousands of important affairs coming the next few weeks that require something fresh and lovely on hand. And those particular frocks are simply bewitching. They are created from the new blues, two or more tones, or rose beige, the soft apple greens, and tawny tans. Perhaps these of rose will appeal to you most, and yet it's difficult to decide, for they are all so sweet, so feminine, and yet so admirably smart.

And you better plan to get your heavier dress there, too, for we saw some stunning models in twill, flannel and jersey at the same price, and lower. They are in the dark shades, of course, but each one is set off with some touch of brilliant color.

Now For Gloves

Well, gloves are leather, aren't they? And as long as it's leather, you'd best take yourself down to the London Harness Company, at 60 Franklin Street. If you are like your Priscilla you welcome any excuse to go into that shop so fragrant with the pungent clean smell of fine leather, and see the splendid luggage, the luncheon kits, all the little leather bags, pocketbooks, bill folds and everything else that may be made of leather. For truly good leather, like silks, satins, ermine and diamonds, belongs to the aristocracy of merchandise.

And there's something about the gloves in there that gives a man or woman that sense of well being, too. I don't know whether it's the make, the style or the tanning of the leather, but they do make you proud of your appearance, your good standing, and general intelligence.

You will probably want a sensible street glove of genuine dog skin, for it slips easily onto the hand, is a very beautiful shade of delicate tan, and grows more pliable and soft with each washing. The price is only $2.50. Or if you like a glove that feels like the softest chiffon velvet, it will be the $4.25 washable suede in tan, gray, natural cream or white which is unusually flexible and warm, without the ordinary bulky winter weight.

For the head of the house, and here is the nicest distinction in a man's dress—I'd choose the substantial goat skin for $3.50, with the rip proof seam, or that most popular number, the pig skin gloves which are good for driving as well as business wear. They are $5.00—Soft, washable, porous and warm.

Faithfully yours,

Priscilla

MRS. JOHN HOMANS
Boston matron had much to do with the arrangement of the Italian Garden shown at the North Bennett Street Industrial School bazaar.

BIT OF OLD WORLD SPLENDOR
The Italian Garden at the North Bennett Street Industrial School sale was one of the show pieces and its pleasing appearance had not a little to do with the success, financially, of the bazaar.

Society Luncheon at Hospital

Mrs. Philip S. Dalton, Mrs. John Lowell, Mrs. Harvey H. Bundy, Mrs. Norman E. [illegible], Mrs. Clement S. Houghton, Mrs. Milton J. Rosenau and Mrs. Francis E. Slattery will be hostesses tomorrow at the first of a series of luncheons to be given at the Massachusetts General Hospital for women of Boston and the metropolitan district.

The luncheon will be held in the dome of the Bulfinch Building, the first hospital in New England. The Bulfinch Building has been completely rebuilt and embodies the facilities and improvements of modern hospital construction and equipment. These improvements are part of the development program for which the recent appeal for funds was made.

Prior to the luncheon, which will be served at 1 p. m., the guests will be shown over the hospital.

A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Ruddy cheeks—sparkling eyes—most women can have. Dr. F. M. Edwards for 20 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave his patients a substitute for calomel made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. Know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—now and then to keep fit. 15c, 30c and 60c.

COMMENT ON SOCIETY

AFTER A TEN YEAR ABSENCE, Sir John Lavery, R. A., portrait painter of world renown, is coming again to Boston. He is due to arrive almost at once, and will set up his studio at the Vose Galleries in Copley square. And his two or three weeks' stay will be a busy one, for several commissions, quite all, in fact, that he can manage in so short a time await execution. And the beautiful Lady Lavery may accompany her illustrious husband. Which all tends to spread much brilliance on the social skies. For Society, ever on the alert where such social lions are concerned, will flutter in the limelight of these illustrious ones. Sir John's days will be entirely devoted to the brush, the social fling for off-duty hours only. But Lady Lavery, if she comes, will be free to do a social whirl. It's really quite a feather in Richard Vose's cap securing for a Boston stay this famous painter of portraits and his beautiful spouse.

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT TREAT PAINE set December 1 as the approximate date for their return to town, so their handsome residence in Arlington street will soon gleam with cheery hospitality after an interlude of shuttered quiet. The Paines spent the Autumn, a long one at their country place out in Waltham, a pleasantly rambling fieldstone and stucco house set on a hilltop that commands an unbroken view of glorious sunsets. With unflagging enthusiasm Mrs. Paine has this Autumn sponsored one cause after another, the last to hold her attention being the bazaar Miss Louisa Loring Dresel so successfully engineered to help small and needy German children. A harvest of silver and greenbacks flowed into cashboxes, to the desirable end that Miss Dresel has been able to send a very comfortable sum across the water.

MRS. J. PHILIP HARTT IS A TRAVELER from foreign shores who has recently come home. She came in on a recent crossing of the steamship DeGrasse, and is again at the Hartt home out in Charles River Village, called River Road Farm, a name pleasantly suggestive of that countryside where so many of society's members live a glorified farm existence.

A BUSY MAN IS GEORGE C. GREENER these days. And a tremendously happy one. And for very good reason. Because the annual exhibition and sale he engineers down at the North Bennet Street Industrial School is this year a record-breaker. It commenced in a whirl of buying with Monday's private view and sale. And society on hand with purses opened wide, bought and bought and bought unceasingly until literally the sales force was swamped.

MANY BEAUTIFUL things have new owners. Several choice bits bear a "sold" ticket with Mrs. Joseph Warren's name. She has bought two oil paintings, and an exquisite wrought iron grille among other things. Mrs. Edwin Sibley Webster, an early purchaser, has a handsome old chest of drawers for her town house, and some odd and much-admired painted canisters and Roman jars for her Chestnut Hill garden.

MRS. OSCAR L. HOLSEY (she is the Governor's sister) follows in Mr. Fuller's habit of treasure-acquiring, and has purchased some charming cupid-like figures in gold and silver. Mrs. Henry A. Morss is the new owner of a Vargueno, an ancient chest, inlaid and polished with the years. It's a handsome Spanish piece that shows the Moorish influence.

A FRENCH ARMCHAIR went to Mrs. Sherwood Rollins. Mrs. Nichols Brown chose some tapestry strips, and Mrs. Robert H. Stevenson, Jr., possibly with an eye to future wedding gifts (her niece, Miss Alice Thomas, is a prospective bride) bought an old Spanish piece, a tooled lacquer-like pencil box. Tinted china flower sprays that Mr. Greener found in Paris went like hot cakes. So did Old English glass and pieces of very fine china.

MISS EDITH GRAVES, sister of Mrs. Samuel Cabot, who did so much in helping arrange the sale, was one of yesterday's volunteer sales force. Her particular province was the linen room. Upstairs, Mrs. Francis J. Oakes, trig and attractive in black, touched by a line of color, was in attendance in the apartment arranged like a handsome baronial hall.

MISS KATHERINE DALTON and Miss Dorothy Lawrence, representing the Junior League, put in an afternoon very successfully for the school. Just to stroll through the various suites and rooms is a delight, albeit tantalizing to one whose purse is light. Perhaps it was the moonlit garden that evoked the most praise. Mrs. John Homans arranged this charming bit, and Mrs. Charles Goddard Weld, with characteristic generosity, sends down daily a supply of potted plants to lend reality to enchantment.

NEW ELEVATED BUS LINE IS SOUGHT IN CAMBRIDGE

Councillor Edward Sennott of the Cambridge City Council introduced an order on behalf of the Cambridge Chamber of Commerce requesting that the Boston Elevated be requested to establish a bus line between Kendall and Lechmere squares.

It was pointed out that Kendall square is the industrial centre and also has a station connecting with rapid transit into Boston while the court house is near Lechmere square which requires hundreds to walk between these points every day.

Junior League Girls Working to Assist Grenfell Mission

Many Junior League girls have dropped their social activities for a month and are playing the roles of saleswomen for the benefit of the Grenfell Mission in Labrador. A number of interesting articles made by workers of this mission are on sale each day at Jays on Temple Place.

Miss Elizabeth Soule, of Brookline, who has recently returned from Labrador, is in charge of the sale, and is assisted by the Misses Ellen Hallowell, Caroline Saltonstall, Dorothy Lawrence, Katherine Dalton, Eleanor Gibson, and Barbara Rice.

Among the articles offered are painted Christmas boxes and cards, hooked mats, hand-made toys and a variety of woven materials. The sale will continue until the end of December.

NEW BRIDGE OVER MYSTIC IS ADVOCATED

Construction of a new bridge and approaches over the Mystic River in Medford, connecting Harvard street and Spring street, at an estimated cost of [illegible], is recommended to the Legislature by the Metropolitan Planning Board.

The board was directed to survey the situation by the last Legislature and to make a report with estimates of costs, plans, and the apportionment of costs.

Unless Medford is prepared to provide proper approaches by widening and improving Harvard street on the south and Spring street and perhaps Grant avenue on the north, and to pay one-third of the cost, the commission declares, the structure should not be build from metropolitan funds.

DOCTOR GAVE HER MIXTURE TO STOP COUGHING SPELLS

Coughed So Bad People Stared—Began to Worry Family

HAWKED AND SPIT UP PHLEGM EACH MORNING

"A person with a bad cough is a fool not to see their doctor right away," declares Mrs. D. R. Shadwell. "I coughed in church, in the office where I work and at the movies so bad people would stare at me. Mornings I was a nuisance around the house, coughing up phlegm and mucus. At night I breathed through my mouth and mornings my mouth was dry and tasted awful.

SAW HER DOCTOR

"Our old doctor met me on the street and noticed I coughed every minute or so. I told him 25c cough remedies did no good and I couldn't take cod liver oil. He laughed and wrote down the name 'Linonine' and told me it was a nice-tasting Flax-seed mixture with Eucalyptus, etc., far better than Cod Liver Oil and quicker, too.

WONDERFUL RESULTS

"Only the bigger downtown stores had Linonine but it's worth going miles to get. My cough loosened up and vanished almost like magic. Since then a dozen friends who were wheezing and coughing around have taken Linonine and even the kids in the neighborhood like to take it when they get a cough or cold. It builds you up, too."

A cough is a nasty, annoying thing to have and dangerous, too, this time of year. A 50c or $1.00 bottle at home does the work. Well stocked druggists have Linonine, made by the nationally-known Kerr Chemical Co., or send dollar bill with name and address to Kerr Chemical Co., Brentwood, Md., for large bottle postage free to your door.

SCOTTISH SOCIETY HONORS ST. ANDREW

The Scot's Charitable Society of Boston, one of the oldest organizations in the country, celebrated St. Andrew's Day with a banquet and entertainment at the Hotel Somerset.

Are "Engaged" After Wedding

NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—These are, indeed, the days of the unexpected, so far as the younger, more impulsive juniors are concerned.

What with Helen Dolores Roosen "putting one over," by announcing that she has been Mrs. Lillian C. Curran since August 28, last; Margaret Metcalfe "throwing down" Robert Henderson Smith to become the bride of a young Bostonian, Francis L. Skelton; and Mary I. Atwell "breaking" her engagement to the wealthy John Vanneck, the debutantes and post-debs are not at a loss for snappy topics to discuss over luncheon platters and tea cups.

What a blow Helen has delivered to the pretty young things invited to serve as her bridesmaids on January 5, next. One can find no excuse for the trick the Herman Dudley Roosen's daughter played on Betty Kendall, Jean Ickleheimer, Mary Sheppard and others.

THE BRIDESMAIDS who will not be bridesmaids wasted no end of time planning their costumes, arranging their social calendars with the wedding in mind, etc.

Mr. and Mrs. Roosen, who make their home at No. 1120 Fifth avenue, made formal announcement of Helen's engagement to young Curran on September 8, last—eleven days after Helen had become Mrs. Curran in St. Patrick's Church, Huntington, L. I.

URGES WINTER ADJUSTMENTS

Although many weeks of ideal driving conditions remain it is not too early for the careful motorist to adjust his car and be prepared for cold weather service, says Frank Brown, general manager, Oakland Motor Co., of New England.

"Motor cars are built for satisfactory service 12 months in the year, regardless of season or climate," says Brown. "But to obtain the highest degree of service under varying temperatures, certain attentions and seasonable adjustments are necessary.

"An hour or two in the service station now will assure uninterrupted driving satisfaction later. During that brief visit to the station, trained service mechanics will take care of many seasonable details which frequently escape the notice of the average car owner. For instance, a lighter grade of lubricant is necessary in the transmission and rear end. The gasoline tank and gasoline should be cleaned. The carburetor also should be cleaned and adjusted.

"If the spark plugs and the oil filter cartridge have been in service for 10,000 miles, they made need replacement. Breaker points regularly require cleaning and adjusting, radiator hose connections should be tightened and possible the packing around the oil pump shaft ought to be replaced.

"Such are only a few of the many parts that are carefully inspected, cleaned, oiled and tuned to cold weather use when one brings his motor car to the service station for seasonable attention and adjustment."

This concern is the New England distributor of Norwalk tires and tubes, Overman cushion and solid tires, Prest-o-lite gas tanks and batteries, Amalie motor oils and greases. DODGE SALES INCREASE 32 PER CENT. IN 2 WEEKS

Continued brisk demand for Dodge Brothers products is evidenced by retail delivery record established during the two weeks ended November 13, when Dodge Brothers dealers in the United States and Canada delivered at retail 7,052 new passenger cars and trucks, a gain of 32.2 per cent. over the total for the corresponding period last year. Sales of the coupe type are well in advance.

Combined with the acceleration and agility of the roadster in the coupe are the comfort and protection of the comfort and protection of the sedan. In appearance there is a distinction which creates an exceptional appeal from an artistic viewpoint.

"There has been a very prevalent idea," said C. F. Mussey, sales manager of the Henshaw Motor Company, "that the practical use of this type was limited to a great extent. Many persons are under the impression that the coupe is built especially for the professional or business man.

"Dodge Brothers special coupe, because of its dependability, economy of operation, comfort and beauty has reached far beyond this limited field of buyers. As a general utility car it is firmly established and is bound to continue to meet a demand in the motor car market not satisfied by any other type car."

TICHENOR NEW RICKENBACKER MANAGER

Colonel Carl M. Tichenor, consulting engineer, has been made general manager of the Rickenbacker Motor Company, at Detroit. Before going to the Rickenbacker factory, Colonel Tichenor was vice president in charge of engineering and production at the Pierce-Arrow plant at Buffalo.

During the war, Colonel Tichenor was stationed at Washington, D. C., in charge of inspection of motors in the air service, but gave most of his time to the various precision instruments in the equipment of air craft.

He has recently been elected president of the Air Service Mechanics Association which is an organization of about seventy-five hundred highly skilled mechanics.

In speaking of conditions of the Rickenbacker plant, Colonel Tichenor said: "It is our intention to increase production in the very near future, and for the week just ended, more Rickenbacker cars have been produced and shipped than in any week for some time previous.

"The new Straight Eight Rickenbacker with the two synchronized carburetors has met with instant success wherever it has been shown and it is a fact that today, we are several hundred orders behind on our delivery requirements."

In conclusion Colonel Tichenor said: "I am on this Rickenbacker job to make good, I intend to stick. I believe the Rickenbacker car to be one of the most highly developed motor cars on the market today and I know that the Rickenbacker plant, where practically every part of the Rickenbacker car is made, is one of the most modernly equipped plants in Detroit."

CRANKSHAFT IS NASH AID

The introduction of the seven-bearing crank shaft is directly responsible for new smoothness and increase in performance of the late Nash models, according to C. P. Rockwell, New England distributor.

In this connection it is noteworthy that Nash makes these crank shafts in its own plant. Thirty-five operations are required and the closest limits of precision are rigidly adhered to, a degree of accuracy which gives them their machine tool perfection.

This engine design reduces distortion in motor action to the minimum by holding the crank shaft rigid throughout its entire length. Seven bearings are the maximum number of bearings it is practical or possible to use on a six-cylinder motor crank shaft. This makes certain that the crank shaft is supported at every necessary point.

This principle counteracts the constant downward motion in the pistons and connecting rods, a motion incident to every power-stroke, and produces a resulting smoothness which is characteristic only of the 7-bearing type of construction.

GERMAN MUSIC RENDERED BY SYMPHONY

By MOSES SMITH.

The first of the Tuesday afternoon series of concerts by the Boston Symphony Orchestra gave new indication that the performances at these extra affairs are as a rule on a higher level than those of the regular subscription series.

The program was an all-German one—a keen stroke on the part of Dr. Koussevitzky. There is room for a short series of concerts illustrating nationalism in music.

The third "Leonore" Overture was given an exciting performance, with Mr. Koussevitzky reading the score in individual fashion. Wagner's contribution was the Prelude and Love-Death from "Tristan and Isolde." Here, too, the interpretation was unorthodox, yet the performance was not the less engrossing.

The only bad feature of having this "Tristan" music in the middle of a program is that the number to follow is bound to lose because of the emotional demands already made upon the listener. Certainly Strauss' "Till Eulenspiegel" sounded unimportant, though at other times it is great music. The final number was Brahms' Fourth Symphony, which was played here a few weeks ago.

* * *

Helene Diedrichs was a pleasant surprise in the piano recital at Jordan Hall last night. Miss Diedrichs is a pupil of Myra Hess, the English pianist who was heard with much pleasure when she played in Boston some time ago.

An interesting program that included three numbers by Arnold Bax, a piece by Szymanowski, and Cesar Franck's Prelude, Choral and Fugue was rendered with musicianship and keen insight. Chopin's F minor Ballade suffered from being placed at the end of a taxing program, but it was nevertheless beautifully played.

VAUDEVILLE'S CELEBRATION NEXT WEEK

Vaudeville inaugurates the celebration of its 100th anniversary the week of December 6.

Every Keith-Albee theatre in America will celebrate All-Nationality Week during this time. "Holiday Week" comes December 25, "Centennial Week" will be observed March 14, while the week of April 17 will be given over to the National Vaudeville Association. Preparations are also under way for a "Victor Herbert Week" beginning May 22.

Dramatic acts featuring leading stars of the country are now being assembled by the producers. A number of European artists are being brought to this country. Inasmuch as every country in the world has contributed to America's entertainment, the first week will be given over as a tribute to the various nations.

The celebration will begin at B. F. Keith's next Monday.

Olive Tell to Marry Hobart, Producer

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
Universal Service Motion Picture Editor

CHICAGO, DEC. 1.—These movie romances follow me. Apparently they are not a matter of environment, for here in Chicago Miles from the studios of Hollywood and New York I hear that Olive Tell will marry Henry Hobart, the motion picture producer, some time before Christmas.

Miss Tell, an actress well known on both the stage and screen, is now appearing in a combination modern and costume play from the pen of Donald Gallagher bearing the somewhat misleading title of "In His Room."

Naturally, being theatrical folk and not much given to making plans in advance, neither Mr. Hobart nor Miss Tell were talking for publication, but nevertheless I am safe in saying when Christmas comes this year Miss Tell will answer to the name of Mrs. Hobart.

She is returning to New York as soon as her play closes. As for Henry, he is about to film "The Poor Nut," having paid a goodly sum for that privilege. Miss Tell's last appearance in the films was in "Summer Bachelors," completed by Allan Dwan only a few weeks ago.

I SUPPOSE IF SHAKESPEARE, SPENCER or even that ponderous writer Carlyle were to return from their present abode with the angels they would rush to California to write for the movies. Does any writer escape? Apparently not. Neither do the movies for that matter.

Ben Hecht, he who troubles the censors with his outlook on life, has decided to write an original for Adolphe Menjou. Our own Jack Lait has arrived in California headed for the Famous Players-Lasky studios where he has agreed to write a scenario called "Ten Modern Commandments" for Esther Ralston.

The NEW YORK EVENING JOURNAL . . . key to the World's Richest Market

More read it . .
More believe in it . . .
More BUY through the
NEW YORK EVENING JOURNAL

The concentrated power of this great advertising medium will win the New York market for your product.

THE New York market is admittedly the greatest and richest in the world. Its 9,000,000 consumers have more wealth than seven large mid-western states. Its 50-mile trading area has more purchasing power than all New England. It is within easy reach, thus cutting down travel and transportation costs. It is the most compact, easily covered, and highly organized trading area in existence.

Where enterprise pays

The very magnitude of the New York market has deterred many a manufacturer from attempting to sell his goods there. But to the man who has energy and ideas, the mere size of an undertaking means nothing. He equips himself with a sufficiently powerful weapon, and goes straight ahead.

The greatest of all sales weapons is good advertising. In the New York market, as anywhere else, advertising is the key to the selling problem—if that advertising takes advantage of the concentrated power of the New York Evening Journal.

Coverage that counts

The circulation of the New York Evening Journal is 700,000 daily—more than those of the next two New York evening papers combined, plus 100,000—the greatest evening paper circulation in the world! Every night it is taken into 700,000 homes, in which dwell approximately 3,000,000 people—one-third of the total number of consumers in this territory!

These people constitute the cream of the New York buying public. They live well; they buy regularly and often; they pay liberally for what they buy. And their purchases are governed by the advertising which comes to them in the columns of the New York Evening Journal.

Proven leadership

The truth of this is proved by merchandising history. Successful merchandisers in the Metropolitan trading area have depended upon the Evening Journal to sell their products. They know the truth of the old saying that "nothing takes the place of circulation." For twenty-seven consecutive years the Evening Journal has had the greatest evening paper circulation in New York. For twelve consecutive years it has led all other New York evening newspapers in the volume of advertising printed!

The power of circulation

Circulation is power. It moves your goods, just as the motor moves an aeroplane or automobile. And the more power you have, the faster you go.

If you have been hesitating about entering the New York market, now is the time to act. It is being done every day, with amazingly profitable results. The world's richest market lies open before you. Win it with the New York Evening Journal!

THE LOVE WRECKER

A Serial of Modern Marriage Imperilled by Jazz and Folly

Romance of a Girl Whose Happiness Was Menaced by a Jealous Woman

READ THIS FIRST

HONEY LOU HUNTLEY is private secretary to old "GRUMPY" WALLACK, head of the Wallack factory.

Everyone likes her. She fears JOE MEADOWS, the shipping clerk.

Honey Lou sees JACK WALLACK, "Grumpy's" only son. She likes his looks better than those of any other man she has ever seen. That night when she leaves the building he is waiting for her. He asks her to ride home with him. But with her nose in the air Honey walks on.

One night Honey Lou goes for a drive with Jack, with whom she has fallen suddenly and violently in love. But when he kisses her Honey Lou slaps his face.

Her mother has brought her up to believe that a kiss is an insult from a man unless he means to marry the girl he kisses. Honey Lou gets out of the car and starts home.

And—he asked himself—what was he going to do about it?

CHAMBER WEEK IN BOSTON IS TO BE BUSY

In an effort to focus the [illegible] of various communities throughout New England on the work of their respective commercial organizations the week of December 5 to 11 has been set aside as Chamber of Commerce Week. The movement is New England wide and the various chambers of commerce and boards of trade will observe it in different ways.

Observance of Chamber of Commerce Week in Boston centres mainly around three [illegible] to be held Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday and the inaugural dinner to be held Friday evening.

Sunday, December 5 has been designated as Civic Sunday and many of the churches on this day will emphasize the dual responsibilities that exist in the larger and more complex industrial and commercial conditions today.

PETERS TO SPEAK.

At 8:30 p. m. on Monday Andrew J. Peters, president of the Chamber and former Mayor of Boston will speak from station WBZ for five minutes, telling briefly [illegible] Chamber of Commerce Week activities.

Tuesday morning's activity will be started off with a breakfast for more than 500 at 8 a. m. in the Chamber's [illegible] dining room.

Transportation—via air, land and water—will be the subject of Tuesday's luncheon at 12:30 at the Chamber. BILL OFFICIALLY BECOMES MANAGER OF THE RED SOX

While President Bob Quinn of the Boston American League and Joe Conway looked on, Bill Carrigan affixed his name to a two-year contract. It is said the negotiations occupied exactly five minutes. Quick work that.

Carrigan Noted as a Developer of Pitchers

BILL CARRIGAN, back as Red Sox manager, had a wonderful reputation in the old days as a developer of pitchers. Even when he was a kid, he was handed charge of the rookie chuckers because of his peculiar knack of being able to make them use their stuff when it counted.

Among other things Carrigan was responsible for the best pitching years of Ray Collins, Charlie Hall, Joe Wood, Dutch Leonard, George Foster and Babe Ruth.

He has the fighting heart and spirit, a real leader for a staggering cause.

He's hard boiled and tough when he has to be. A tail end club must have a driver at the helm.

He was one of baseball's best developers of pitchers, when in the game and, if he hasn't lost his cunning, may work wonders with the Sox staff.

He has the confidence and respect and unanimous backing of Boston fandom.

"If the verdict rested [illegible] the number of first downs scored the accidental long run and the penalty might not figure in the result. Anyway, I do not believe the present system of four fifteen-minute quarters should arbitrarily end a football game."

"Personally, I am not in favor of lucky points that decide hard games. I would like to see the kick over touchdown abolished. Let a touchdown count seven. If each team gets one, there would be a tie game. It's hardly fair to have a fortunate kick settle things when all else has been even."

REAL FANS REMEMBER THIS BIG LEAGUE WONDER OF OLDEN TIMES

Dan Brouthers, Top-Notcher Many Years Ago, Was a Real Ball Player

STILL IN THE GAME BUT GETTING OLD

"I ran across "Dan Brouthers," out at the Polo Grounds in New York recently—the man fans declared was the greatest ball player of his time in the big leagues. On the right is his picture in the togs they wore then—the pose newspapers printed and fans raved over in the old days. Dan is Night Superintendent at the Polo Grounds nowadays—He can't get away from the game—just loves to sit and watch the big league youngsters of today, like a granddad loves to watch his grandchildren at play. "Dan" the last time I saw him was suffering with stiffness in his knees and had tried everything but they wouldn't limber up like they should so I asked him what he'd done. He was walking around as spry and frisky like and this is what baseball's grand old man said:

"I sure suffered a lot with my knees and stiff joints, but I got to rubbing myself with Mike Martin's Liniment—it's the kind the ball players use nowadays—Mike Martin is the trainer of Washington Ball Club, you know, and by jingo the first application brought relief and after a few more I was entirely cured. It sure beats the old time liniments and is the best on the market today."

Among the oldtime fans who read this and remember "Dan" there may be some who likewise aren't as limber and free of lameness, stiffness, aches, pains, rheumatism, etc., as they used to be and if so—here's his tip—Get a bottle of Mike Martin's Liniment for a dollar at the drug store or send Mike Martin a dollar bill with name and address for a bottle parcels post—Mike's address is Care Washington Ball Club, Brentwood, Md.

Carrigan Smart Saw Wealth in [illegible] And Went After It

BILL CARRIGAN MAINE MOVIE MAG[illegible]

THE Red Sox have the wealthiest manager in [illegible] Carrigan, who succeeds Lee Fohl and makes e[illegible] fan happy by coming back, has plenty of jack, as the William is a moving picture magnate. By this we do n[illegible] a Lasky or de Mille. He owns the principal interest in a s[illegible] of movie palaces scattered around his home town, Lewiston, Me. Bill has been collecting the profits for a matter of ten years. He always was far sighted and a good business man. Back in 1916 the film game was in its infancy so to speak. The community show, the small town theatre, was just beginning. Carrigan saw that there was money waiting to be collected in that business. He realized there was so much that he gave up baseball, although he had just won two world titles with his Red Sox, and had a team that promised to carry on for five or seven more years. Mister Carrigan was right in all his guesses. He picked a profit producer, and such a good one that for the past five or six years he has been able to turn a deaf ear to baseball offers that Jawn Rockefeller would hardly have scorned.

Nick Flatley

Bill had a turbulent baseball career, and was pretty well fed up with the game when he retired. He has been away long enough to come back with the old enthusiasm. He's a driver and a tyrant, and has the personal fire to carry a large league team along. Those are just the qualities that a new Sox manager must have to take himself anywhere.

In the lexicon of Carrigan, there has never been any such word as failure. He made good as a college player at Holy Cross. Then he came through in the major show. And he was a howling success as a pilot. He seems to have stepped into a job that will require all his miracle stuff and wizardry. The toughness of it undoubtedly attracted him.

GETTING CARRIGAN WILL HELP TO PAY A LOT OF OTHER RED SOX BILLS.

The fans will have the Red Sox out of the cellar by Christmas.

BILL STARTED RUTH UP FAME'S LADDER

CARRIGAN made Babe Ruth a big league ball player. The famous Bam came up to the Red Sox when Bill was managing. He was a husky, tough kid, who didn't care whether school kept or not. He could throw a baseball faster than almost anybody in the game, so the boys knew he would make a pitcher if a few of his wild ideas were removed.

Changing the Babe over looked like an impossible job, until Carrigan took it over personally. The big rookie was tough, but so was his boss. The pair are said to have had several very heated and strenuous discussions and arguments.

From time to time sounds of splintering furniture issued from the conference room. Nothing official was said about the matter. Neither Mister Carrigan nor Master Ruth ever would be quoted. But it was noticed that Lewiston William could make baseball's bad boy jump through a hoop any time he gave the word.

For the years of Carrigan reign, Ruth was the best left-handed pitcher in baseball. Bill saw that the kid could hit, and used him in the pinches here and there. That really started the Bam off on his more or less famous home run parade. 'Twill be interesting to watch the pair when the Yanks make their first visit to the Fenway.

MEDBURY SAYS---

By John P. Medbury

ACCORDING to a noted explorer, cannibalism is becoming extinct. Our missionaries aren't as tasty as they used to be.

THE last batch that this country sent over were so tough that all the natives got indigestion.

AND now the heathen mothers won't let their children eat anybody between meals.

ONE little kid got terribly sick stuffing himself on a minister.

THE father got sore because it was the last preacher in the icebox.

AND the family was saving him for sandwiches.

ALL they had left was a Chicago gunman and he was so tough they couldn't stick a fork in him.

BUT they put him on to boil and are hoping he'll be tender soon.

THEY'RE afraid to eat him until they get more dyspepsia tablets.

ONE cannibal says he loves missionaries but they don't agree with him.

WHAT he's waiting for is a nice tender actor.

THE barbarians are going to break off diplomatic relations with this country if we don't send them the right kind of people.

THEY may be savages, but they're not going to eat everybody that comes along.

ONE cannibal housewife says that she hasn't had a good sized missionary in her icebox since 1924.

HER husband captured a [illegible] man last month, but [illegible] down to 55.

THEY want us to send [illegible] there that don't shrink.

WITH the kind of missionaries they're getting nowadays, the housewives are only wasting their time in the kitchen.

THE MEDITATIONS OF A WIFE---BY HELEN ROWLAND

EVERY woman enjoys a wedding provided it's not her OWN wedding.

* * *

Not until she has been married two or three times, does she really get any kick out of playing the star role in the marriage ceremony.

* * *

At her first wedding a girl suffers from stage-fright, self-consciousness and a haunting anxiety as to whether the bridegroom will get there alive or not. And she is so exhausted with the nervous strain that they really should have an ambulance, instead of a limousine, to carry her away in!

But, by the third time she goes to the altar, she walks with a firm assured step, knows her "lines" by heart and can go through all the "business" like a Broadway actress after a long run.

* * *

At her first wedding she is in a state of coma, acts like a sleep-walker and can't tell you a thing about it afterward. A murderer, at his own hanging is no nearer to being a corpse.

* * *

But at her third ceremony her eyes are wide open—and nothing escapes her, from the lilies on the altar to the clergyman's words and the set of the bridegroom's cravat. She isn't committing herself blindly to anything!

* * *

At her first wedding a girl wears ghastly white, and insists on having a six-yard train like a winding sheet, dragging behind her.

* * *

But the third time she marries, she tries to brighten up the scene by wearing something more cheerful; and she knows enough not to have any impedimenta for the bridegroom to stumble over, as an excuse for his first husbandly profanity.

* * *

Every girl wants to make her first wedding a "memorable affair." She wants a CROWD of witnesses to her triumph, a lot of bridesmaids trailing her, and her picture in all the newspapers.

* * *

But at her third offense she wants just as few people as possible to throw it up to her afterward. She is beginning to be a bit SENSITIVE on the subject, and the less "fuss" made over the matter, the better.

At her first wedding a girl receives the congratulations of all her friends with tears of nervous hysteria and without question. But, at her third cast of the die, she receives them sweetly and skeptically—and secretly HOPES they may be right!

* * *

Oh, yes, there are lots of happy marriages—but the only happy WEDDINGS are THIRD weddings!

Over 6,000 bottles sold in one small New Jersey town last year—and the best druggists the country over concede that its phenomenal sales are due to the fact that the most stubborn chronic cases are promptly conquered. X-RAY

Examination, consultation, trial treatment and medicine absolutely free to all who call before Dec. 7th. The wonderful power of the X-Ray and mercury-quartz light treatment is proved by the fact that they are accomplishing wonders in diseases of every description—catarrh, bronchitis, deafness, stomach, nerve and skin disease. No matter what your disease may be remember Daniel J. Walsh, M. D., 18 Boylston St., will make good the above offer.

STOMACH

MR. JOHN M. WHEATON, 72 CENTER ST., LYNN, MASS., says:—"I had stomach trouble for the past two years, so severe that would be doubled up with pain. What I ate did not agree with me but would cause distress. I was constipated and had frequent headaches. I had been treated by different doctors, but could get no relief from their treatment. I read so much of DANIEL J. WALSH, M. D., and his remarkable success with chronic troubles that I consulted him and his treatment has made me feel so well that I take great pleasure in recommending DANIEL J. WALSH, M. D., to all who suffered as I did."

MR. W. B. STEWART, 1184 WEBSTER ST., ATLANTIC, MASS., says: "I had suffered from stomach trouble for three years. I felt so bad that I will not attempt to describe my symptoms. I had been treated by a local doctor who was unable to benefit me. When I read of DANIEL J. WALSH, M. D., and his wonderful success in treating chronic ailments I had him treat me and his treatment has been so successful in my case that I am pleased to recommend him to all who suffer from similar ailments."

BLADDER

MRS. JULIA HORN, 61 PRICHARD AVE., W. SOMERVILLE, MASS., says: "I had suffered from stomach and bladder trouble for two years which the local physician did not relieve. I could not sleep at night. For seven weeks I had not slept. I was filled with gas and at my wits' end when I read of DANIEL J. WALSH, M. D., and his remarkable success with chronic ailments. My husband told me to try him. I did so, and from the first treatment I improved steadily, and now I feel quite well again. I permit the use of this testimonial in the hope of benefiting others who suffer as I did."

LIVER

MRS. ROSE WALLIS, 3275 WASHINGTON ST., JAMAICA PLAIN, MASS., says: "I had liver and gall bladder trouble and felt miserable most of the time. My husband had been treated by DANIEL J. WALSH, M. D., and took me to him. His treatment has benefited me so much, that I think others who suffer as I did will be glad to know where to go for relief from their ailments."

NEW ENGLAND PROSPEROUS, BANK SAYS

Highly encouraging signs of business prosperity in New England are pointed out in the monthly review of the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston, issued today.

These indications include the following:

"New England business is considerably more active than it was last Summer.

"In the country, as a whole, there was very little recession in activity during the Spring and Summer, and no increase in the Autumn, such as occurred in New England.

"In the last three weeks of October, and the first three weeks of November, the Boston department stores reported an increase in total sales as compared with a year ago.

"There was a distinct improvement in the 'failure situation' in New England during September and October, as contrasted with a poorer condition in the country as a whole. In both September and October, the number was less than in 1925.

"The average New England department store continues to report a very good volume of business.

"A further slight expansion of industrial employment in New England has been noted in recent weeks."

The statement reports a decline during October in all classes of building except residential construction, also a slowing down of shoe factory activity and a tendency toward declining prices in hides and leather, with New England cotton mills maintaining even activity in October and November, comparative quietness in the cotton goods market and the same condition in the wool market.

EDWARD J. WELCH FUNERAL TOMORROW

The funeral of Edward J. Welch of Dorchester, one of the pioneers in the floral business in this city, will be held from St. Mark's Roman Catholic Church, Dorchester, tomorrow. Mr. Welch, who was 63, died at his home at No. 96 Ashmont street, Dorchester, last Monday. He is survived by two daughters, Miss Christine Welch and Mrs. Norman M. Drennan, and by one son, Fred W. Welch.

Mr. Welch was connected with the firm of Welch Brothers, florists, for many years, later establishing a concern under the name of D. and E. J. Welch. He was a member of the Boston Lodge of Elks, a Fourth Degree Knight of Columbus, and belonged to the Bishop Cheverus Council, K. C.

HUB ELKS HOTEL INSPECTED BY HUNDREDS

The official opening of the new Elks' hotel, under the management of Kieran J. Lowry, took place today and hundreds inspected the latest addition to Boston's hostelries. From the first to the fifteenth floor the building is outfitted and designed along the most modern and approved lines.

The entire building was furnished by Boston establishments. The material and furnishings were made by Boston manufacturers and the decorations by Boston artists. Ladies' rooms, writing rooms, a tea room and ball room are among the features of the new hotel.

KIERAN J. LOWRY

The large ball room with permanent seats in a balcony has a seating capacity of 2,000. The 1,500 floor seats are movable and the floor will accommodated 1,000 couples. Heating and ventilation are of most modern type and the acoustics of the hall make it possible to hear perfectly from all parts of it. A large number of events have already been booked for the Winter season.

Newsstands, telegraph and telephone offices are in the main lobby. The lobby is beautifully furnished. Two octagonal settees upholstered in green and old red mohair are placed in the middle. A huge crystal chandelier of old Italian design in red, blue and gold furnishes the lighting. Italian marble columns tower the full two stories' height of the lobby.

The memorial stairrase leads to the writing rooms, which are furnished in period. The furniture is done in old blue. A tea room on the second floor is expected to be well patronized. It is finished in antique ivory with hangings of orchid stripe damask. A specially designed rug of jade green of the Adam period features the room.

MARTHA GIVES ANSWERS TO 2 QUESTIONS

While the opening, reading and judging the thousands of entries to the Martha Lee Homemakers' Contest is going on, we're going to publish each day the answers to two or more of the Contest questions which could be answered in a word or two. The answers to the more complicated questions cannot, of course, be published until the judging is complete.

The first question was: "Should bread rise in a warm or cold place?" The answer is, of course, "warm."

I don't believe we're going to find a single mistake on this question.

Question No. 2. "Should macaroni be put on to cook in cold or boiling water?" The answer is "boiling."

And if you've eaten as much soggy, sticky macaroni as I have, I'm sure you'll agree with me that while everybody may know the correct answer to this question, they are too frequently contented with just warm water of varying temperature.

Boiling water, at a real galloping boil, is the secret of successful macaroni cookery.

Tomorrow, we'll have the correct answers to questions three and four.

IF A FISH CAUGHT IT, WHY IT'S A FISH STORY

Del Monte, Cal., Dec. 1 (A.P.).—Now James A. McKenzie, former president of the California Golf Association, will tell one. While golfing with Gouverneur Morris, McKenzie's mashie shot was caught on the first bounce by a sea gull which flew out to sea and dropped it. Morris claims it was lost in a water hazard.

HOW A PRINCE MAKES LOVE, TOLD BY THE WOMAN WHO WAS WOOED AND WON BY PRINCE CAROL, QUEEN MARIE'S SON. Zizi Lambrino, morganatic wife of Carol in a thinly veiled novel reveals the secrets of her courtship and the repudiation by the Prince. With Rumania's tottering throne the centre of all European controversy, Zizi's revelations are very timely. Begin reading them in next Monday's Boston Evening American.

People Want No Political Tampering With the Navy

The Nation has three main defenses: The Atlantic Ocean, the Pacific Ocean and the Navy. The oceans are probably beyond political interference. But the budget director, whose job is economy, proposes to slash the Navy, reducing its appropriations so that it must discharge men and put ships out of commission.

The budget director, of course, can only recommend to Congress. If it accepts this recommendation, it will not be popular with the people, who have a wholesome instinct against political tampering with the Navy.

It is a sound instinct because it is based on experience. Since the Nation was founded, the Navy has kept foreign foes from landing on our shores except for the raids on Washington and New Orleans in the war of 1812. The Navy won that war. It won the Civil War by blockading the ports of the South. It won the Spanish-American War at Manila and Santiago. It got our troops safely to France in the World War and it broke up the submarine campaign, Germany's one hope of winning.

The Navy has never yet been the occasion of starting a war, but it has finished all of them right. When the country is forced to fight, it is an advantage to do the fighting away from this country. That is where the Navy fights.

Well-meaning but not well-advised sentimentalists, who dreamed universal peace was at hand, controlled the policy of this government five years ago when it agreed to destroy the twenty-seven battleships, built or building, which would have made us invincible against any attack. We exchanged invincibility for equality. Further reduction will be to exchange equality for inferiority. Advocates of this policy will have no weight with the President.

Since Congress left Washington in July, events have given little encouragement to the idea that universal peace is upon us. The preliminary disarmament discussion at Geneva blew up; the "disarmament conference" is now postponed until 1928. European members of the World Court have refused to accept us into the court with the reservations which the Senate considers necessary to protect our independence. Spain and Brazil have quit the League of Nations, which is divided into hostile camps by the contests of England and France to control it.

Dictators, military ententes, secret treaties, political murders and "danger zones" distract Europe. Its discordant and belligerent nationalities agree on only one thing, hatred of us, and determination to get out of paying us back the money loaned by our government.

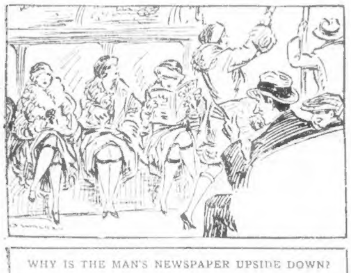
Meantime, in the East, the specter of a Russian-Asiatic alliance looms ominous, as the representatives of Turkey, Persia, China and Russia meet in Moscow, Angora, Teheran and Canton.

It is not a world that invites the Nation to strip off its defensive armor.

The American people do not like war or the idea of war or the name of war, and it is the settled policy of this country not to make war. But so long as there are war-like Nations in the world, the United States must be prepared, not to make war, but to conduct an effective defense.

Is This Decency?

Or Is It a Joking Matter?



WHY IS THE MAN'S NEWSPAPER UPSIDE DOWN?

The brilliant, young Collier editor presents, as a humorous picture, this gentleman facing three young ladies with garters, holding his newspaper upside down, his mind not exactly on reading.

Is this a joke? Young, presumably moral women sitting in public places in indecent attitudes?

Not content to show their stockings above the knee, they wear fancy garters below to force attention. Time was when a decent girl would bitterly regret having her garter seen.

This is amusing to certain men, but it is not a good thing for the young women.

Real affection, which they all hope for, is born of mystery, of THINGS UNSEEN, of goodness and morality.

A girl displaying herself in this fashion may MEAN WELL. She may be in the technical sense "ALL RIGHT." She may be virtuous as girls go. And having invited the stares of every man about her, she may look highly indignant if men stare persistently at her.

BUT THERE IS SOMETHING WRONG WITH HER.

The right sort of a girl is MODEST. The wrong girl is NOT modest. That is all there is to it.

Also, young ladies, please notice this. The kind of girl that is anxious to have all men see her legs above the knees, or at least WILLING to have them see, is not the kind of girl to which any man worth while will pin his permanent affection.

Keep that in your minds, young ladies with the bare knees.

CANNOT BE KEPT IN THE DARK

By DR. FRANK CRANE

IF you have anything to tell me, say it.

Don't beat around the bush and prepare me for your news, or otherwise break it gently.

A young man called to see me the other day and asked if he could have ten minutes of my time. I replied that he could on two conditions—that he spend the first five minutes telling me what he wanted me to do; then he could take the other five minutes and explain why he wanted me to do it.

I don't like to have people prepare me for things. I don't want anything led up to.

I am quickly adjustable, and whatever may be your news I can soon arrange my affairs to receive it.

For people to think they must lead up to things or they must get me first in the proper mood to hear what they have to say is an impeachment of my intelligence.

I am already in the proper mood. I am ready to hear your news. So out with it, no matter what it may be.

This thing of preparing people to receive news recalls the story of an Irishman.

An Irishman was killed in a mine disaster. As they were bringing home is body they deputed Mike, one of his fellows, to break the news to his widow. Mike went on ahead and when he met the widow at the door of her house he said: "Does the Widow McCann live here?"

"No," she replied. "I am Mrs. McCann and my husband is a miner."

"Like the dickens he is," said Mike. "Wait 'til you see what they're bringing up the steps."

The fact is that the experienced mind can adapt itself quicker to anything else than to mystery.

Whatever the bad news may be, we can digest it in time, but one thing we cannot stand is to be kept in the dark.

WHEN SKILLED LABOR REAPS ITS REWARD

There are certain things that you know ought to be done at this time of the year, inside or outside your home or your office.

Each season brings its peculiar duties and responsibilities.

What do you gain by postponing the process?

If you take the attitude that there is "time enough" you are going to hustle things without much thought, or care.

If you don't engage your help early enough you will find that others have the experienced and thoroughly capable workers while you must take up with what is left—probably unskilled labor.

It does not pay to employ unskilled workmen even though you pay less unless you can stand right over the job and watch it understandingly.

It is not very soothing to the tired man or woman to find that money and time have been expended only to have it to do over again on account of the slipshod methods of helpers.

On the other hand what are you—skilled or unskilled labor?

Try to know your job as well or better than your fellow workers and then be on hand at the beginning of the season and get top price.

Odds and Ends of the Town

DIGNITY

DIGNITY in all its glory may be seen on Monday afternoons at the meeting of the BOSTON CITY COUNCIL. PRESIDENT CHARLES G. KEENE is faultlessly attired in a cutaway coat and striped trousers.

The gentlemen of the city government are spick and span. Then as the genial city messenger, "NED" LEARY, is assigned to call upon the MAYOR, one may see his masterly stride and the carrying of the official mace, letting the world know that the municipal lawmakers are in session.

PAY ENVELOPES

The great todo which NICHOLS leaders have been making the past few months over standardization of salaries for between 10,000 and 15,000 city workers greatly slowed down the private pulling and hauling upon the MAYOR to secure special consideration for influential individuals in the way of raises under the new budget now being framed. Those who are "in the know" are passing along the word that the MAYOR will not accept the report of his standardization committee this year, if he ever does—and, accordingly, the old pull and haul game is on again this year.

YOU TELL ONE

EX-REPRESENTATIVE P. JOSEPH McMANUS, who has tabooed politics to practice law, convulsed WHITFIELD TUCK, bard of WINCHESTER, in NEWSPAPER ROW by relating to him the story of the man who received word at the hospital twice that his wife was improving and who on the third day was informed of her death. "The man was asked by his mother what his wife died of," said McMANUS, "and he said 'improvements.'"

READING UP.

BOSTON is having many calls made upon it for books on evolution, according to booksellers. These calls are largely from the South. Since the SCOPES trial in TENNESSEE the demand for such books has doubled. According to DR. A. L. HUDSON of the FIRST PARISH, DORCHESTER, the way to make anything popular is to condemn it.

OFF TO CLEVELAND.

EDWARD INGRAHAM, president of the CONSUMERS' LEAGUE of MASSACHUSETTS, and MISS MARY C. WIGGIN, the executive secretary, have left as delegates to the annual meeting of the National Consumers' League in CLEVELAND. While in that city they will be entertained at the home of NEWTON D. BAKER, former Secretary of War. MISS WIGGIN will give a talk on "A Busy Day with a Restaurant Manager."

BUSY LIKE A BEE

Officers and members of the MOUNT PLEASANT IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION of ROXBURY are leading an agitation to compel the "L" trustees to place a conductor on all GENEVA AVENUE-DUDLEY STREET surface cars during the rush hours, to avoid confusion and delays. At present such cars are manned by one man and he has to make change and open only the forward door for passengers to enter and alight.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

EVERY day women and girls come to my office and ask me to help them find a job. Usually they have failed to obtain work from the various employment agencies. The reason is not at once apparent. They are obviously intelligent, willing, courteous, well dressed and of appealing manners. Surely, the world needs such women workers. Then why can't they find the employment which they often need so desperately? One question tells why—

"What can you do?" I ask.

And nine times out of ten, they answer—"oh, anything." They smile brightly as they say it. It is evident that they think that this answer should settle matters.

It does. That answer will settle any business application beyond all hope of revival. But I don't tell these optimistic ladies this depressing fact. Always I keep hoping that something may be done.

So I switch my questions a little. "Anything? Of course, that's interesting, but it's a little vague. What do you mean by anything? Can you use a typewriter?" Their tone implies that they consider this but a slight handicap. Of course, if they have to use a typewriter they can learn easily enough. And, come to think of it, they've often picked out letters on Jim's typewriter—with one finger, of course. And it wouldn't take them any time at all——"

Become Suspicious.

I explain patiently that employers aren't conducting courses in stenography. As I do their eyes narrow with suspicion. It is plain that they feel that I'm unfriendly—that I'm trying to put obstacles in their way. Probably the employers wouldn't care a bit, only I want to discourage them. There's a coolness in the air as we continue.

Can you do filing? Bookkeeping? Tailoring? Nursing? Catering? Selling of any sort? Manicuring or hair dressing?

Down the line we go, the ladies growing increasingly hostile. No, of course they can't do these things. Haven't they already told me that they never had "worked out" in any capacity. But they're willing to try anything, and if the kind of dumbbells one meets in business life can succeed, surely they can! If only some one would give them a chance.

What Can You Do?

It is plain that they think that I am standing in the way of their chance—that all the women who have interviewed them are standing in their day. Probably we're jealous of them, afraid they'll do better than we do. Even get our jobs, in time. Yes, that's it! We're jealous. That's why we're being so mean—refusing to recommend them—pretending that it needs a lot of technical training—.

So they go away firmly convinced that I'm a jealous cat who doesn't want to see them succeed.

SORRY, BUT THERE'S NO OPENING
SHE CAN "DO ANYTHING," BUT—
ELSIE ROBINSON

For they don't believe a word I've said. Aren't they the petted daughters or the esteemed wives in their own homes? Doesn't everyone at the Ladies' Aid say that they "can do anything they turn their hand to?" And then I pretend that there's something terribly different about filing a few papers or writing a letter.

There's real tragedy in all this, my friend, if you can read between the lines. By the thousands they crowd into the mart of industry—innocent young things from the homes, arrogant young things from the colleges — restless, childless wives or faded widowed mothers to whom the job is really a life or death matter—

"What can you do?"

"Oh, anything!"

Which means that they can't do a single thing which the world wishes to buy.

Suppose YOU had to support yourself tomorrow. What could YOU DO?

Tide-Earth Rotation

By Garrett P. Serviss,

Noted Astronomer and Writer on Scientific Topics of Popular Interest.

LATELY in replying to a question about what causes the contestants on all race tracks to make a left instead of a right turn—the same habit it is alleged, being shown by the pilots of air-planes—I referred to the fact that the earth's rotation on its axis tends to deflect all motions over the earth's surface in the northern hemisphere toward the right.

I showed how this tendency produces a left-hand rotation, which is conspicuously exhibited by the winds of a cyclone turning about a low pressure centre.

Commander G. T. Rude, chief of the Division of Tides and Currents of the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey, kindly furnished me with most interesting facts proving that the same phenomenon is shown by the tides and currents of the ocean.

It is perceptible in the difference between the mean range of the tide on the eastern and western shores of estuaries.

On Chesapeake Bay, for instance, at places directly opposite on the two shores, the average mean range on the Eastern (right) shore is 0.31 feet higher than on the Western (left) shore.

In this case the mean ranges are small the average on the western shore from Cape Henry to Seven Foot Knoll being 1.36 feet, and on the eastern shore, from Cape Charles to Tolchester Beach, 1.67 feet.

But if we turn to the Bay of Fundy, with its immense tides, a difference of no less than 5.3 feet is found between the western and eastern shores, the average mean on the west, from Belfast to Moncton, being 22.5 feet, and that on the east, from Jebogue Point to Minas Basin, 27.8 feet.

The highest mean range, 44.2 feet, is at Minas Basin on the eastern shore, that at the opposite point on the western shore, Moncton, being 41.2 feet.

Other bodies of water, Commander Rude, says, show this greater range on the right bank to a more or less marked degree, depending upon the magnitude of the range and the width of the body.

"On Delaware Bay, for example, the greatest difference between the ranges on the two shores is 0.8 foot, occurring about half-way up the bay, the greater range being on the New Jersey shore."

What may appear still more surprising is that the deflecting force of the earth's rotation is exhibited by wind-driven currents in the ocean. Of these Commander Rude says:

"These wind-producing currents instead of setting in the same direction as the winds causing them, are deflected to the right in the northern hemisphere. Current observations made by the Coast and Geodetic Survey for a number of years on the light-vessels stationed along the coasts verify Ekman's theoretical work along this line.

In general the coastal wind-driven currents set about 20 degrees to the right along the Atlantic coast of the United States, and about 15 degrees to the right along the Pacific Coast of the United States."
